Read the passage and do the task below.

The Chinese Dream Vs. the American Dream

In November 2012, Chinese President Xi Jinping developed a vision for the nation's future that he called the Chinese Dream — to build a moderately prosperous society and realize national rejuvenation.

The term “American Dream” was invented in 1931. The American Dream is defined as the belief that anyone, regardless of where they were born or what class they were born into, can attain their own version of success in a society where upward mobility is possible for everyone.

The London-based media company WPP carried out research in 2014 to discover the power of the Chinese Dream in comparison with the American Dream. The table on the next page shows the percentage of Chinese and American subjects who agreed with these statements related to their national dreams.

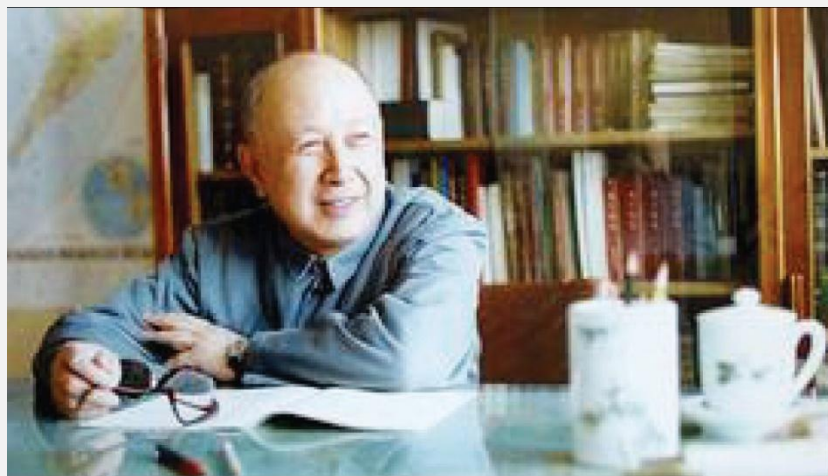

Statement about the national dream	The Chinese	The Americans
1. Showing national pride is very or extremely important.	67%	60%
2. I'm very or extremely satisfied with my life.	58%	48%
3. My life has room for improvement.	79%	14%
4. National dream makes me feel more confident about my personal future.	66%	45%
5. National dream makes me feel more confident about the future of my country.	61%	42%

Group work: Work in groups and discuss the following questions:

- 1 What is the difference between the Chinese Dream and the American Dream? What conclusion can you draw from the responses of the two peoples towards their national dreams?
- 2 What is your dream? How would you integrate your personal dream with the national dream?

Pair work: Look at the two photos below. Then work with your partner and answer the questions that follow. You may want to search online for information by using your cell phone to scan the QR codes (二维码).

Qian Xuesen: a Chinese scientist, father of China's space programs

Steve Jobs: an American inventor, designer and businessman

- 🔑 1 Can you say a few words about the two people in the pictures?
- 🔑 2 What dream did each of them have and work hard to achieve?
- 🔑 3 What difficulties did they come across when pursuing their dreams?

- 1 What difficult situation has Robbie Wilde met?
- 2 How much do you know about him?
- 3 Is it possible for you to become a DJ if you were in the same condition?

DJ (disc jockey or deejay)

DJ is a person who mixes recorded music for an audience. There are a variety of DJs, depending on where they work (e.g. radio, club and mobile DJs) or what types of musical performance techniques they use (e.g. electronica, reggae and hip-hop DJs).

通常指在娱乐场所播放、调试音乐产生强劲效果引导大家热辣跳舞的人，也可以是在酒吧主持与音乐有关的节目（或广播）的主持人，俗称唱片骑士或打碟师。

Turntable

A turntable is a circular revolving plate supporting a record as it is played. By adjusting the speed of the turntable, either by adjusting the speed knob, or by manipulating the plate (e.g. by slowing down the plate by putting a finger gently along the side), DJs can match the tempos of different records so their rhythms can be played together at the same time without clashing or make a smooth, seamless transition from one song to another.

唱机转盘是一个支撑唱片的圆形旋转盘，可以通过速度旋钮或操纵板调节转盘的速度（例如，将手指轻轻地放在唱片的一侧能够放缓唱片的速度）。DJ可以搭配不同唱片的节奏，或从一首歌曲无缝地过渡到另一首歌曲。

DJ mixer

A mixer is a device for merging input signals to produce a combined output in the form of sounds or pictures. Most DJ mixers have far fewer channels than a mixer used by a record producer or audio engineer.

混音器是用于合并输入信号以产生声音或图像形式的组合输出的装置。大多数DJ混音器的频道远远少于录音制作人或音频工程师使用的混音器。

DJ software

Unlike most music player software designed for regular consumers, DJ software can play at least two audio files simultaneously, display the waveforms of the files on screen and enable the DJ to listen to either source. The waveforms allow the DJ to see what is coming next in the music and how the playback of different files is aligned.

与大多数针对普通消费者的音乐播放软件不同，DJ软件可以同时播放至少两个音频文件，并在屏幕上显示文件的波形，DJ能够聆听任何一个音源，能够通过软件上的波形看到接下来的音乐是什么，以及不同乐曲的节奏如何搭配。

TEXT

A deaf disc jockey? Sounds impossible? Not if you are Robbie Wilde, who was determined to pursue his dream of driving dancers to their feet despite his hearing loss.

Deaf DJ

By Robbie Wilde as told to Kenneth Miller

 T 1 I was born in England with perfect hearing. In 1990, when I was five, my family moved to the United States. I started getting ear infections every three months or so. We didn't have health insurance at the time and when I got a third infection, my parents couldn't pay for the treatment. I went deaf in my right ear and was left with 50 percent hearing in my left. Over time, my remaining hearing dropped to 20 percent, where it is today. My doctors predicted that I would be completely deaf by now, so I think I'm doing pretty well.

 T 2 There was always music on in my house when I was little. I loved listening to Metallica, Led Zeppelin, Bob Marley, Michael Jackson. My dad was a DJ, so he played disco, folk, dance, rock, and music from other countries. For my 18th birthday, my dad asked me to deejay at the restaurant he owned. After doing that for a few weeks, I was hooked. I wanted to learn more.

  3 I e-mailed DJ Shiftee, a well-known New York City DJ, when I was 25: “I know you like a challenge. How about teaching a deaf person to deejay?” He wrote back the next day: “Challenge accepted.” He tutored me twice a week for two years, helping me develop correct technique. I practiced four hours a day. Now when I’m performing, muscle memory takes over.

  4 When I started deejaying at clubs, I wouldn’t tell the managers I was deaf. I would just show up, introduce myself, and start playing music. At the end of the night, someone would say, “Oh, here’s the check.” And I’d say, “What? Oh, I can’t hear.” They were always so surprised. Sometimes I would bring doctor’s notes because they wouldn’t believe me. It was reassurance that they were giving me jobs because I was good, not out of sympathy. Eventually people started calling me “that Deaf DJ,” and the name stuck.

5 For a show, I set up one speaker facing my left side, my good ear, and make it louder all the way up. The speakers that play the bass are on the floor behind me so I can hear some of the lower frequencies and feel the beat in my feet. And I can feel the energy of the song and the crowd goes crazy, you feel that. The song comes to life.

6 I use software that turns the music into lines of color on a computer screen. Red is the bass, blue is snare, green is the vocals or melody. I'm visually hearing the music. What I love about deejaying is the creativity, what you can do with a machine, two turntables, and a mixer.

7 The next time you go dancing cover your ears, and you'll feel a little bit of how I do it. You'll start using your other senses. You'll start seeing that you're able to hear the music in a different way. Music is not all about hearing.

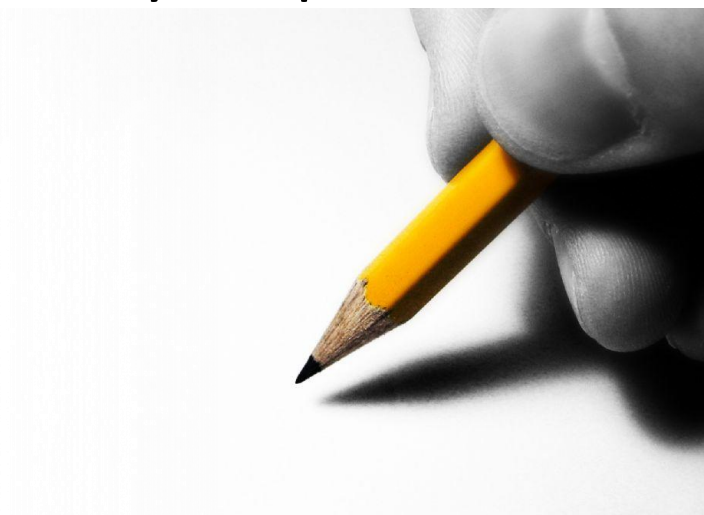

🔊 T 8 I play all sorts of get-togethers now, from college parties to corporate events. I also go to elementary schools for the deaf and talk to the students about motivation and believing in themselves. I'm big on talking to the parents. I tell them, "My advice to you is to let [your kids] chase their dreams. I'm a deaf DJ, so why not?"

1. Text Organization

Pair work: This text is organized in order of time to tell the writer's own life story about the development of his deafness and skills as a DJ. Find out major events/activities in the writer's life according to time indicators (指示词), such as expressions of time and tense. Compare notes with your partner.

The Development of the Writer's Skills as a DJ

Time	Paragraphs	Major Events/Activities
When he was little	2	• There was always music on in his house. • He loved listening to Metallica, Led Zeppelin, Bob Marley, Michael Jackson. • His dad was a DJ, who played disco, folk, dance, rock, and music from other countries.
On his 18th birthday	2	His dad asked him to deejay at the restaurant he owned.
After deejaying at his father's restaurant for a few weeks	2	He was hooked on being a DJ and wanted to learn more.

Time	Paragraphs	Major Events/Activities
When he was 25	3	He emailed a well-known DJ and was able to get his tutoring twice a week for two years.
When he started deejaying at clubs	4	He showed up, introduced himself, and played music without telling people there he was deaf.
Now when he performs	3	• He is skillful, with his body moving automatically.
	5	• He can hear some of the lower frequencies and feel the beat in his feet.
	6	• He uses software that turns the music into lines of color on a computer screen.
	8	• He plays all sorts of get-togethers, from college parties to corporate events.

2. Comprehension Check

Pair work: With the teacher as guide, you and your partner work on the following comprehension check exercises.

2.1 Focusing on (关注) the main ideas

Complete the following paragraph with key information from the text.

Robbie Wilde has been enjoying his life as a(n) DJ . He was born with perfect hearing , but is now completely deaf in his right ear and can hardly hear in his left. He grew up in a(n) musical family and started deejaying at age 18 . With a strong desire to perfect his skills, he asked a well-known DJ for tutoring . He has been working hard and does not want his skills recognized simply because people have sympathy for his disability (残疾). In this way, he sets a good example for other young people in chasing their dreams .

2.2 Digging into detail

Answer the following questions to better understand the text. You may want to write down some key words in the space provided before you do so.

🔑 (Para. 1) 1 How did Robbie become deaf?

He was born with perfect hearing in both ears, but severe ear infections that started when he was five left him deaf in his right ear and 50% deaf in his left. Over time, his remaining hearing dropped to 20 percent.

🔑 (Para. 4) 2 How did people in the clubs feel when Robbie told them he was hard of hearing?

They were always surprised.

🔑 (Para. 5) 3 What does he do to help himself hear the music when he deejays for a show?

He places one speaker facing his good left ear, and makes it louder all the way up. The speakers that play the bass are put on the floor behind him, so he can hear some of the lower frequencies and feels the beat in his feet.

🔑 (Para. 6) 4 What does the word “visually” most probably mean, judging from the context?

It most probably means “with the eyes”.

🔑 (Para. 6) 5 What does he love about deejaying?

He loves its creativity, and what he can do with a machine, two turntables, and a mixer.

2.3 Understanding difficult sentences

Choose the answer that correctly interprets (解释) the sentence from the text.

🔑 1 Over time, my remaining hearing dropped to 20 percent, where it is today. (Para. 1)

- ☒ A) Gradually I lost more of my hearing until I was 80 percent deaf, as I remain now.
- ☐ B) Soon I lost 20 percent of my hearing after I moved to where I'm living today.

🔑 2 After doing that for a few weeks, I was hooked. (Para. 2)

- ☐ A) I was only interested in doing that for a few weeks.
- ☒ B) I became really interested in doing that after a few weeks.

 3 It was reassurance that they were giving me jobs because I was good, not out of sympathy. (Para. 4)

- ☐ A) I was good, so they had pity on me and gave me jobs. This is truly heart-warming.
- ☒ B) Their attitude encouraged me as it showed they gave me jobs because they valued my skills, not because they felt sorry for me.

 4 Music is not all about hearing. (Para. 7)

- ☒ A) Music benefits from the use of senses other than hearing, such as sight and touch.
- ☐ B) Hearing is not just an important but the most important sense in a DJ's life.

🔑 5 I'm big on talking to the parents. (Para. 8)

☐ A) I feel very proud when I am talking to the parents.

☒ B) I love and really enjoy talking to the parents.

This text is a first-person narrative based on an interview or a conversation with Robbie Wilde. A written text though it is, it demonstrates some stylistic characteristics we can find in conversational English.

First, look at the informal words and expressions throughout the text that make the reader feel comfortable because of familiarity: or so (Para. 1), hooked (Para. 2), stuck (Para. 4), all the way (Para. 5), a little bit (Para. 7), big on (Para. 8), and so on. In the case of direct quotations, which are used by the narrator to add realism and liveliness, they naturally contain informal usages, such as How about ...? (Para. 3), Challenged accepted. (Para. 3), What? (Para. 4), and why not? (Para. 8).

Second, most sentences are not particularly long and also do not have complex structures. In the cases where sentences are connected through transitional words, simple coordinating conjunctions such as and, so and because are used.

Third, the narration of events or activities relies on simple verbs, verbal phrases or noun clauses instead of strong and complex verbs or nouns. Examples of such verbs, verbal phrases and noun clauses include, among many others, have, go, do, tell, talk, ask, feel, bring, play; take over, show up, set up, come to life; where it is, what you can do, how I do it, what I like about ...

Fourth, words that refer to the person(s) or thing(s) in the immediate context are frequently used to achieve the effect of getting the reader more involved. Two types of such words can be found in this text: (1) first-person and second-person pronouns (i.e. I, me, my, we, you, your), (2) words such as today, now, that (After doing that; you feel that).

Finally, contractions are common in this written text, thus retaining the informal style and rhythm of speech from the original interview or conversation. Just run a quick scan of the text, and you'll be able to locate these contractions: didn't, couldn't, I'm, here's, can't, wouldn't, and you'll.

1 In China, what has the society offered to people with disabilities? In what aspects do you think it should improve? Can you give us some specific instances?

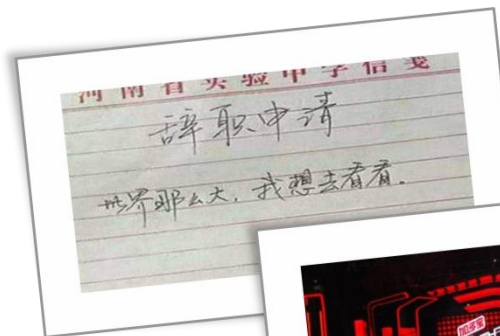

2 Nowadays, more and more people, especially young ones, pursue their dreams despite of the limits of reality. Some of them quit jobs to travel around the world; some of them try every means to be a singer. They may get both praise and blame:

“They are so brave to be what they want to be in spite of all the difficulties; their lives are worth living.”

“They are so selfish; they just refuse to think about their limits, their livelihood, the social reality, and the feelings of their family.”

What do you think about this issue? You can take some examples to support your ideas.

In the next two readings we meet a janitor and a scientist. Both had a dream and the will to make their dream come true: the janitor putting aside his broom to pick up a pen; the scientist setting off in secret pursuit of the Chinese Dream of national rejuvenation (复兴).

Reading 1

🔊 Janitor Filipaj, the Dream Pursuer

Verena Dobnik

 T 1 For years, Gac Filipaj mopped floors, cleaned toilets and took out trash at Columbia University. A refugee from war-torn Yugoslavia, he made a living working for the Ivy League school since 1993. But Sunday, May 13, 2012, was payback time: The 52-year-old janitor put on a cap and gown to graduate with a bachelor's degree in classics.

 T 2 As a Columbia employee, he didn't have to pay for the classes he took. His favorite subject was the Roman philosopher and statesman Seneca, the janitor said to the Associated Press reporter during a break from his work at the student union building he cleans. “(1) I love Seneca's letters because they're written in the spirit in which I was educated in my family — not to look for fame and fortune, but to have a simple, honest, honorable life,” he said.

🔊 T 3 For Filipaj, the degree comes after years of studying late into the night in his Bronx apartment, where he'd open his books after a 2:30–11 p.m. shift as a “heavy cleaner” — his job title. Before exam time or to finish a paper, he'd pull all-nighters, then go to class in the morning and then to work. As his mother tongue is Albanian, it took him almost seven years to learn to master the English language before he was admitted to the School of General Studies. (2)His graduation with honors resulted from his strong will to overcome all the difficulties he ran into in the following dozen years of studies, including readings in ancient Latin and Greek.

🔊 T 4 On Sunday morning on Columbia's Manhattan campus, Filipaj flashed a huge smile and a thumbs-up as he walked off the podium after a handshake from Columbia President Lee Bollinger, who presided over a ceremony in which General Studies students received their graduation certificates.

🔊 T 5 “This is a man with great pride, whether he’s doing custodial work or academics,” said Peter Awn, dean of Columbia’s School of General Studies. “(3) He is very humble and grateful, but he’s one individual who makes his own future.”

🔊 T 6 It’s been a long road for Filipaj who fled to the United States in 1992, leaving behind his parents and siblings on a family farm in Montenegro, then a Yugoslav republic. Filipaj has always been a dedicated student. When he was living in Montenegro and working on his family farm, he attended the Law College in Belgrade as a part-time student, but he was unable to finish his degree due to the cruel civil war and had to leave his homeland during the last year of his studies.

🔊 T 7 At first in New York, his uncle in the Bronx offered him shelter while he worked as a restaurant busboy. “I asked people, which are the best schools in New York?” he said. Since Columbia topped his list, “I went there to see if I could get a job.” Filipaj was accepted at Columbia as a janitor.

- 🔊 T 8 Part of his $22-an-hour janitor's pay still goes back to his brother, sister-in-law and two kids in Montenegro. Filipaj has no computer, but he bought one for the family, whose income comes mostly from selling milk. Filipaj also saves by not paying for a cellphone; he can only be reached via landline.
- 🔊 T 9 During the interview with the Associated Press, Filipaj didn't show the slightest regret or bitterness about his hard life. Instead, he cheerfully described encounters with surprised younger students who wondered why their classmate was cleaning up after them. "They say, 'Aren't you...?'" he said with a grin.
- 🔊 T 10 His ambition is to get a master's degree, maybe even a Ph.D., in Roman and Greek classics. He hopes to become a teacher someday, while translating his favorite classics into Albanian.

🔊 T 11 For now, he's trying to get "a better job," maybe as supervisor of custodians or something similar, at Columbia if possible. He's not interested in furthering his studies to make more money. "(4) The richness is in me, in my heart and in my head, not in my pockets," said Filipaj, who is now an American 🔊 T citizen.

12 Soon after, the spirited, 5-foot-4 janitor picked up a broom and dustpan and went back to work.

Decide whether the following statements are true (T) or false (F), based on the article.

- ☒ 1 Gac Filipaj is an Albanian from Yugoslavia who attended a law college before he left his homeland because of the civil war.
- ☐ 2 After he came to the U.S., he had no one to depend on and lived in a shelter.
- ☒ 3 In 1993, he started to make a living working for Columbia University as a janitor.
- ☐ 4 For ten years, he had to learn English well enough to be admitted to the School of General Studies at Columbia University.
- ☐ 5 During the day, he studied Greek and Latin and after dinner at night, he did his cleaning on campus.

- T 6 For his work as a janitor, he could take some classes for free at Columbia University.
- T 7 As a janitor, he did not make much money and lived a simple life, but he still managed to send money back to his family in Yugoslavia.
- F 8 On May 13, 2012, he earned a Master's degree in classics at age 52.
- T 9 He values education and believes in an honest and honorable life.
- T 10 He has a plan to go to graduate school and be a teacher.

Translate into Chinese the underlined sentences in the article.

🔑 1 I love Seneca's letters because they're written in the spirit in which I was educated in my family — not to look for fame and fortune, but to have a simple, honest, honorable life.

我喜欢塞涅卡的作品，因为这些作品中弘扬的正是我的家庭教育所推崇的精神——不追名逐利，过简单、诚实、体面的生活。

🔑 2 His graduation with honors resulted from his strong will to overcome all the difficulties he ran into in the following dozen years of studies, including readings in ancient Latin and Greek.

他以优异成绩毕业，是因为他有坚强的意志去克服十多年的学习中所遇到的一切困难，包括阅读用古拉丁语和希腊语写的文献。

 3 He is very humble and grateful, but he's one individual who makes his own future.

他非常谦卑，并怀有感恩之心，但他是一个创造自己未来的人。

 4 The richness is in me, in my heart and in my head, not in my pockets.

我的财富是内在的，它在我的心中和头脑中，而不是在我的口袋里。

Reading 2

🔊 The Man in Pursuit of the Chinese Dream of National Rejuvenation

Gao Yun, Huang Zhengzheng

🔊 T 1 On June 17, 1967, a huge mushroom cloud rose in the desert of Xinjiang, marking the successful development of China's first hydrogen bomb. At the time, few knew the name of Yu Min, a key contributor behind this.

🔊 T 2 In the 1950s, China started to build an atomic bomb of its own for national security, with famous nuclear physicist Qian Sanqiang as the leading scientist. While the making of the A-bomb was in full swing, research into the hydrogen bomb was also on the agenda. In 1961, Qian invited Yu to participate in the preliminary study of the H-bomb theory. By then, Yu had already made great achievements in theoretical nuclear physics, so joining the group to study the H-bomb theory was a major change of his research direction. Yu later said that he preferred theoretical work to applied technology, but at the time he knew what he was obliged to do: “The Chinese nation did not bully others, nor should it be bullied by others. Nuclear weapons are a means of protection. This national sentiment was my spiritual motivation.”

  3 In order to accelerate China’s self-reliant hydrogen bomb program, Yu worked tirelessly and completed the design of the bomb after three months of doing calculations. “We used a computer for calculations,” Yu’s younger colleague Du Xiangwan recalled, “but Yu Min could discover a computer bug in doing a calculation. This was due to his profound knowledge of theoretical physics.”

-  T 4 Yu's talent, hard work and leadership, together with other scientists' perseverance, led to the successful experimental explosion of China's first H-bomb, merely two years and eight months after the test of its first A-bomb on October 16, 1964, a miraculously shortest interval between both tests hitherto successfully completed.
-  T 5 In later years Yu moved on to the development of second-generation nuclear weapons until he retired in 1988. Having gone through all the hardships and risks, including radiation damage to his health, he finally led his team to make break-throughs, bringing China's technology in this field to a new level.
-  T 6 For nearly 30 years, the other personal sacrifices Yu had to make were enormous. Nuclear weapon projects were highly classified in the 1960s, so his name remained a secret until 1988. Even his wife had no idea of his involvement before then. Moreover, Yu could not publish his research papers or have his own students.

  7 Yu's important role in China's national defense has now been publicly recognized. He was awarded the "Two Bombs, One Satellite" Achievement Medal in 1999, and honored with the country's top science and technology award in 2014. He was also presented with the Medal of the Republic in September 2019, some months after his death that year. It is China's highest honor for people who have made outstanding contributions to the pursuit of the Chinese dream of national rejuvenation. Despite all the honors and awards, Yu declined to be called the "father of the hydrogen bomb." He said, "One's name will fade over time. When I can do my little bit to make our motherland prosper, that's enough to console myself."

Skim the article above and answer the following questions.

 1 What were Yu Min's major contributions as a nuclear scientist?

He was a key contributor to the development of China's first hydrogen bomb and the country's nuclear weapon program for national defense.

 2 What challenges did Yu have for nearly 30 years in pursuit of the Chinese dream?

1) He had to change his research direction when invited to participate in the preliminary study of the H-bomb theory.

2) For nearly 30 years he had to go through all the hardships and risks, including radiation damage to his health.

3) His name remained a secret from 1961 until 1988, and even his wife had no idea of his involvement.

4) He could not publish his research papers or have his own students

 3 What did Yu say was his motivation for participating in the nuclear weapon program?

He said that the national sentiment was his spiritual motivation.

 4 What did Yu think of all the honors and awards he got?

While knowing that one's name would fade over time, he consoled himself with the fact that he had done his little bit to make his motherland prosper.

Cultivating Core Values — Dedication

Dedication is a person's attitude of taking responsibility for the work and the learning they do. The value of dedication is reflected in people's respect and identification of their professions, and how they love and value what they do by treating their work and learning with seriousness and responsibility. A respectful and responsible attitude lays the foundation for the realization of one's ideals and it is also a basic requirement for the value of dedication.

The development of a country and the progress of a society cannot be achieved without the dedication of the people. In this society, whoever makes a difference is dedicated; whoever succeeds in a certain field is particularly diligent. Those who worship the value of dedication are the ones chasing the Chinese Dream. Yu Min is one of those dedicated Chinese Dream chasers, and his deeds have moved countless Chinese people.

Pair work: Work with your partner to complete the following dialogue, using the words and phrases in brackets. Make changes or additions where necessary.

A: Yu Min is a famous nuclear physicist who has made great contributions to China's nuclear cause. After reading his story, I feel great admiration for him.

B: So do I. Today, he is known as a national hero. He has been honored with countless scientific 1) awards including the "Two Bombs, One Satellite" Achievement Medal and the Medal of the Republic. In the face of such high honors, he 2) remains very modest. (award, remain)

A: I'm wondering what qualities and faiths have made him feel 3) obliged to work tirelessly and anonymously for 28 years in order to conduct 4) classified nuclear research. (classify, obliged to)

B: I believe it's his patriotism, dedication and perseverance combined to have sustained him for so long.

A: Yes, I agree. He has all the valuable qualities of an outstanding scientist. His 5) talent, hard work, leadership and cooperation with colleagues have all worked well to realize our 6) national dream of developing A-bomb, H-bomb and other nuclear weapons. (national dream, talent)

B: What amazing achievements these are! Motivated by the 7) national sentiment, he made enormous personal 8) sacrifices. He abandoned the study of theoretical nuclear physics, which he enjoyed most, to study applied technology, which is unfamiliar to him. (national sentiment, sacrifice)

A: Even his wife had no idea of his 9) involvement in nuclear weapon projects. Though he had made remarkable 10) breakthroughs in this field, he could not publish research papers or educate students. And it's a great pity that his health was 11) damaged by long-term exposure to 12) radiation. (breakthrough, damage, involvement, radiation)

- B: He deserves the respect of us all. It is because of talented, diligent and dedicated scientists like Yu Min that China's nuclear industry could grow from scratch, from weak to strong.
- A: He also has a sparkling personal charm. I will always remember his humble response when he 13) declined the title of the "father of the hydrogen bomb." He says "one's name will 14) fade over time. When I can do my little bit to make our motherland 15) prosper, that's enough to console myself." (decline, fade, prosper)
- B: Yes. His simple words have touched countless Chinese people. He is a real national hero.

leader. When the state 9) awarded him the “Two Bombs, One Satellite” Achievement Medal, Yu Min was quick to point out that his success was the result of the team’s collective effort. When people gave him the title of the “father of the hydrogen bomb,” he 10) declined it, explaining that the development of nuclear weapons was nationwide effort. Yu Min lived most of his life as an “unknown hero.” When he passed away on January 16, 2019 at the age of 93, China lost one of its most important heroes.

2. Translate the following passage into English.

习主席把“中国梦”定义为“实现中华民族伟大复兴”，并且表示这个梦“一定能实现”。中国梦不仅是国家的梦、民族的梦，也是每个中国人的梦。于敏就是千千万万个中国梦的追梦人之一，他是青年一代的榜样。

President Xi defined the “Chinese Dream” as “realizing the great renewal of the Chinese nation” and said the dream “will certainly come true.” The Chinese Dream is not only the dream of the country and the nation, but also of every Chinese. Yu Min is one of the millions of chasers of the Chinese Dream, and he is a role model for the younger generation.

我们的人民自力更生，勤奋工作，创造了令世界惊叹的中国奇迹。我们应当珍惜中国快速发展带来的机遇，与各国人民一道，为建设一个更加繁荣美丽的世界做出贡献。

Our people, through self-reliance and hard work, have created Chinese miracles that have amazed the world. We should treasure the opportunities presented by China's rapid development, and work with people of other countries to contribute to building a more prosperous and beautiful world.

Conversion

English words are usually formed in four ways:

- affixation (词缀法) including prefixation (前缀法), such as impossible, rewrite, and suffixation (后缀法), such as useful, visually, pursuer, motivation;
 - compounding (合成法), such as software, well-known, 3-year-old;
 - abbreviation (缩略法), such as DJ, USA;
 - conversion (词性转换法).

Conversion is done when a word changes its class without any change of its form. Its typical (典型的) cases include noun → verb, verb → noun, adjective → noun and adjective → verb, such as tutor n. → v. change v. → n. red adj. → n. lower adj. → v.

In the text there are some words used in the same way. Can you find any of them? And can you list any other words like them?

Rewrite the parts in italics (斜体) of the following sentences with the proper words of conversion, making changes where necessary.

Pair work: Work with your partner to complete the following dialogues, using the words and phrases in brackets. Make changes or additions where necessary.

Model:

A: I haven't thought seriously about my life's dreams yet. I'm not sure where I'm going to end up. Any advice?

B: Well, to chase your dreams, you need motivation and your motivation comes from something you can be hooked on. I know you love food, don't you? How about owning a restaurant?
(hook, motivation, how about, chase)

1 A: Our government encourages college students to be creative and start career planning (职业规划) early. What does this mean for your dream of a future job?

B: As a college student, I am big on learning and applying skills our future job needs instead of book knowledge only. I would like to take on challenges during college. And I have a strong motivation to go abroad to learn more someday. (challenge, motivation, be big on)

2 A: My problem is that I have dreams but they always seem so far away and hard to achieve. What's your advice?

B: First, you need to look inside yourself and know what you really want to do. In other words, you need to build up your confidence (信心) and believe in yourself/your dream . Second, create a plan and take action in pursuit of your dream . By so doing, you will, I'm sure, make your dream come true over time . (pursuit, believe in, over time)

3 A: Do you have a dream job in mind already? If so, what is it?
Would you mind sharing it with us?

B: My dream job is a corporate position such as a manager leading a team to help the company reach its goals. What I like most about the job is to overcome challenges and make decisions with creativity . I've got hooked on reading books on team leadership now! (hook, creativity, corporate)

4 A: In chasing my dream, obstacles (障碍) come my way from time to time. I sometimes think of giving up. As a successful CEO, can you share your experience with me about how to deal with them?

B: Yes, I'd be more than happy to do so. To deal with things holding me back, I'll look closely at them first, and then make a list, instead of saying to myself “ Why not just give up?”. For some obstacles, I will not let excuses take over . For example, it actually doesn't help if my blame goes all the way to life not treating me well. By finding the right kind of help, I can grow stronger no matter what and do well . (all the way, why not, do well, take over)

As we learn from the Text, Robbie has lost most of his hearing but is determined to be a DJ. View a short video about him. Focus only on his answers to the three questions listed below. Fill in the blanks in the dialogue boxes according to what you have heard.

Segment (片段) 1 How does Robbie view deejaying?

“You know, I still consider it as a hobby. I really do love it. Like I don’t see it as a job, you know. And that’s the best part, if you love something, you know, you don’t consider it as a job, you know, you’re happy to go to work.”

Segment 2 How would he like others to view him?

“You know, I don’t want you to see me as a deaf DJ, or a deaf kid trying to deejay. I want you, I want you to see me as a great DJ that happens to be deaf, you know, because, you know, I don’t want sympathy, I don’t want, ‘Oh, let’s give him a gig (工作), because, you know, his hearing is impaired (损坏).”

Segment 3 What is nice about his hearing loss?

“You know, there’s a lot of sounds out in the world you don’t want to hear. I like it muffled (消音), you know. It’s, it’s ... you know, I like who I am. I’m proud of who I am.”

TV interview

Scenario: Suppose a TV presenter is hosting a show on the American dream and the Chinese dream. She is interviewing Robbie Wilde, Gac Filipaj, and Du Xiangwan (Yu Min's colleague) via video conferencing (视频会议).

Roles:

TV presenter
Robbie Wilde
Gac Filipaj
Du Xiangwan

Group work:

- Work in a group of four people.
- Each person picks a role.
- Brainstorm what specific questions the presenter is going to ask.

Tips: The interview questions can be about the achievements of Robbie Wilde, Gac Filipaj, and Yu Min, what challenges stood in the way of their success, what they thought and how they felt when encountering difficulties in pursuit of their dreams, how they felt after they succeeded, what advice they have for young people, etc.

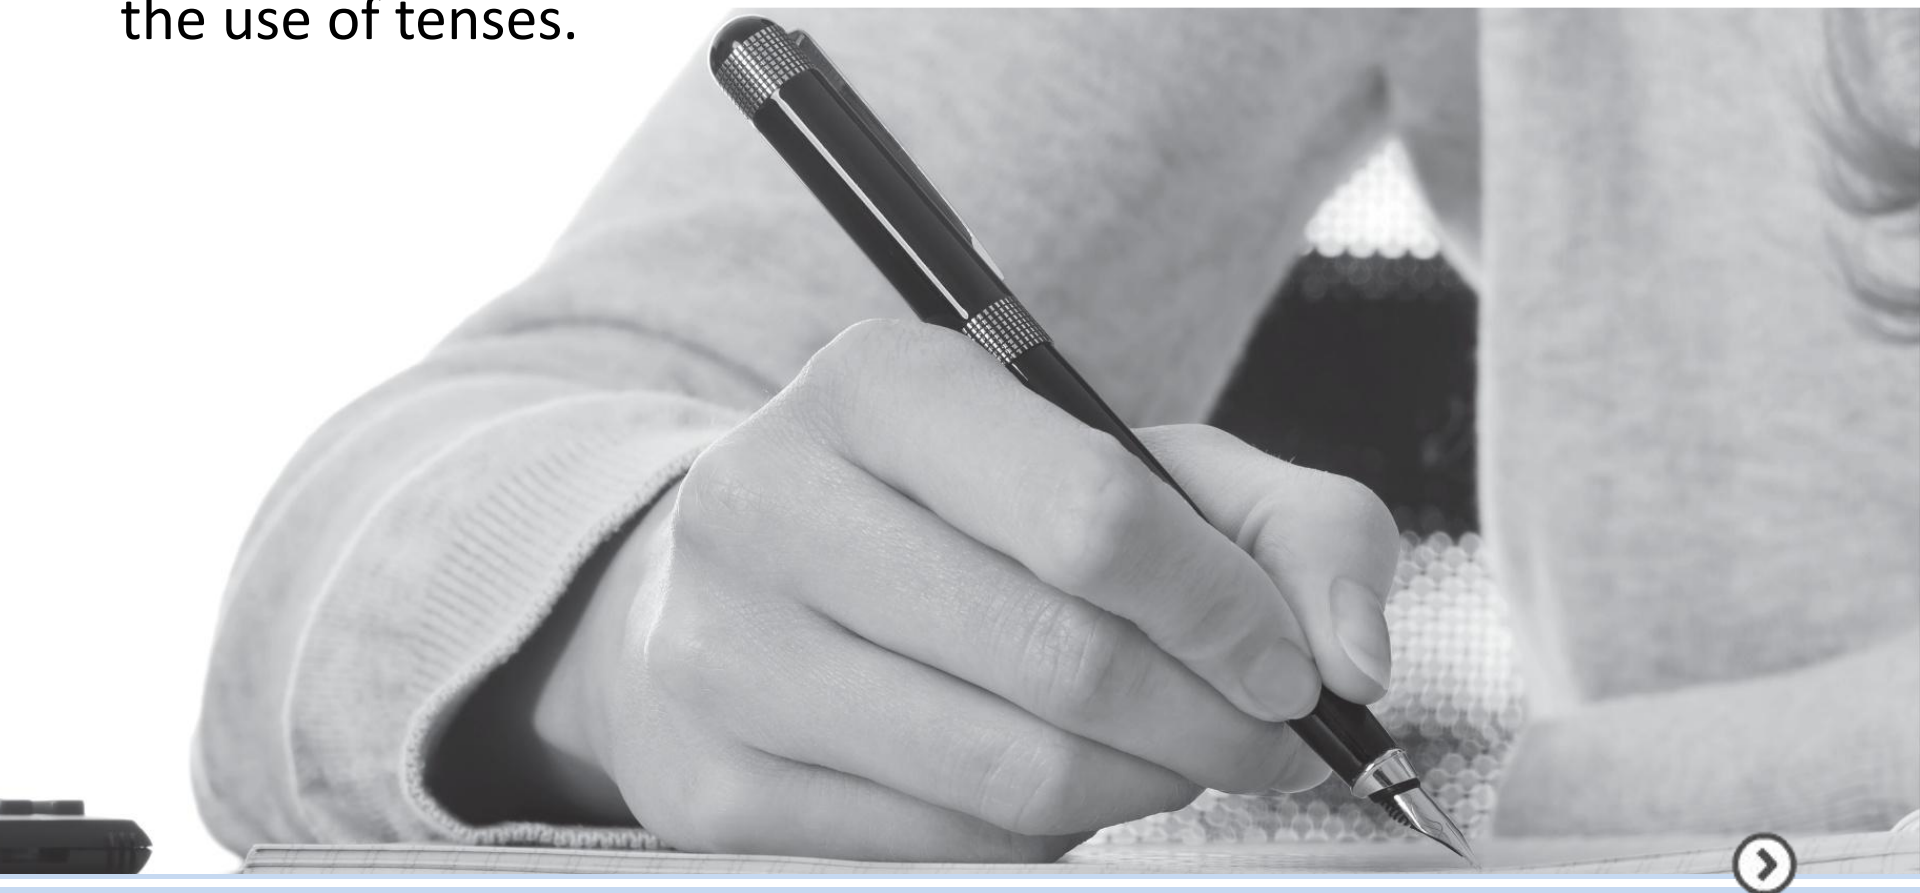

- The presenter collects the questions and writes them down on a sheet of paper. The other three people to be interviewed prepare answers. Write a script together if the group thinks it necessary.

Tips: The other three in the group scan the articles in this unit and write down key information related to the questions to be asked.

- Then role-play the interview.

First, work individually on a paragraph about “My Dream Job”. Then, present your writing in a group of four to share dream jobs with each other. Compare the four people’s descriptions of obstacles and ways of achieving dreams. At the same time, check and fix grammar mistakes for each other. Pay special attention to the use of tenses.

Evaluation (评价) criteria (标准):

- 1 You must write a paragraph of no less than 120 words.
- 2 You must state clearly what your dream job is at the beginning of your paragraph.
- 3 You must include at least one sentence stating what you have learned from the three dream pursuers in this unit.
- 4 You must include information about the obstacles you may face and how you plan to work at college for your dream job.
- 5 You must use:
 - five key words and expressions from the Text,
 - two new words from the other two articles.

Highlight (使……突出) these words and expressions clearly by underlining them or using a different color.

Group project: The individual dreams of the Chinese people are closely linked to the prosperity of our country and nation. As the young generation, you are expected to treasure your college time and be dedicated to making yourself a better person, academically and morally. Work in groups and discuss how you will integrate your personal dream with the national dream. You may find relevant material from the previous four parts. Each group selects one speaker to deliver a three-minute speech with the topic “My Chinese Dream.”

Upon completion of this unit, you are expected to:

- have a thorough understanding of the text contextually and linguistically;
- build up an active vocabulary to talk about the pursuit of dreams and know how to use the key words and expressions in context properly;
- know what makes successful dream chasers;
- talk about your own dream jobs and explain how to make your dreams come true;
- write a well-developed paragraph with a clear topic sentence.

1. Mr. Qian Xuesen was a distinguished and world-renowned rocket scientist. Steve Jobs was a famous American entrepreneur, the co-founder, chairman, and CEO of Apple Inc.

2. Both of them were dream pursuers and hard workers who finally succeeded in fulfilling their dreams in their own specialized domains. Qian Xuesen became universally acknowledged as the father of China's space programs, and Steve Jobs came to fame as a creative entrepreneur who revolutionized many products, including personal computers and smartphones.

3. In the early 1950s, Qian, a scientist working in the United States, suffered serious persecution by the US government just because he sympathized with New China. However, he remained firm and overcame lots of difficulties and returned to his motherland in the end. Following that, he devoted himself wholeheartedly to the development of China's nuclear weapons program. As to Jobs, he also had to overcome a lot of obstacles on his way to success. Once he was forced out of Apple, the company he had co-founded. But years later he came back and became its CEO, and led the world in tablet computers and smartphones.

1. For decades, the American Dream has inspired individuals to pursue their dreams through sacrifice, risk-taking, and hard work. The American Dream is shared by thousands of immigrants from all over the world who hope to improve their lives through the pursuit of their individual dreams.

The Chinese Dream has been defined very differently as the dream of “the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation.” Rather than celebrating individual aspiration and striving, the Chinese Dream emphasizes a collective effort from all Chinese people in gradually achieving China’s yearning for a “great rejuvenation” in the 21st century.

While both dreams hope for success through hard work, the American Dream stresses the spirit of freedom and social mobility, while the Chinese Dream (although it incorporates individual dreams) pinpoints unity and stability. Also, the Chinese Dream is unique to the Chinese people. Unlike the American Dream, it speaks only to the members of the Chinese nation and is not meant to be adopted by the world.

It's inappropriate to argue which dream is "better." Different cultures have cultivated different values, beliefs and political cultures, which cannot be judged by a single standard. Obviously, the Chinese Dream is different from the American Dream, but that does not necessarily lead to an inevitable clash between these two dreams or even these two states and cultures. In fact, their very differences might make it possible for the two to co-exist. "Seeking common ground while reserving differences" is a core value and principle of China's culture and its foreign policy as well, and it certainly is a core value that is deeply embedded in the idea of the Chinese Dream.

Some conclusions can be reached from the different responses of the two peoples towards their national dreams. Compared with the Americans, the Chinese people take national pride more seriously; they feel greater personal satisfaction because they see brighter prospects of improvement in the future. They hold a stronger belief that realization of the Chinese Dream will improve their own lives and the power of the nation. That shows they are more confident about their personal future and the future of the nation.

耳聋的打碟师

罗比·怀尔德口述，肯尼斯·米勒整理

我生于英格兰，刚出生时我的听力一切正常。在1990年我五岁的时候，我们全家迁到了美国。我开始大约每隔三个月就会耳朵发炎。当时我们没有医疗保险，我的耳朵第三次感染后，我的父母无钱供我治疗。我的右耳失聪，左耳也只剩下百分之五十的听力。渐渐地，我剩下的听力降至百分之二十，也就是现在的情况。我的医生曾预估我到现在应该全聋了，所以我觉得自己的情况还不错。

（Para.1）

我小的时候家里总是放着音乐。我非常喜欢听金属制品乐队、齐柏林飞船乐队、鲍勃·马利和迈克尔·杰克逊的歌。我爸爸是个打碟师，所以他会放迪斯科、民乐、舞曲、摇滚和外国音乐。为庆贺我的十八岁生日，我爸爸请我到他开的饭馆去做打碟师。几个星期下来，我着了迷。我想再多学点儿。

(Para.2)

二十五岁的时候，我就给著名的纽约城打碟师谢夫迪发了电子邮件。我写道：“我知道你喜欢挑战。教教一个聋人做打碟师怎么样？”第二天他就回复了：“接受挑战。”他每周两次给我做个别辅导，时间长达两年，帮助我掌握正确的技巧。我每天都会练习四个小时。如今我表演时，各种动作配合娴熟自如。

(Para.3)

我刚开始在夜总会做打碟师的时候，总是瞒着经理们，不告诉他们我耳聋。我径直到场，自我介绍，然后就开始打碟。夜里收工时，人家说：“这是给你的支票。”而我说：“什么？我耳聋。”这时，他们总是非常惊讶。有时候我会带上医生的证明，因为他们无法相信我。他们请我主持是因为我的技术不错，而不是动了恻隐之心。这就让我感到放心了。到后来大家都叫我“那个耳聋的打碟师”，这一称呼一直沿用至今。

(Para.4)

每次出场，我把一个音箱朝着我的左侧放置，靠近我好的耳朵，把声音调得很响。低音音箱放在我身后的地板上，这样我就能听见一些较低的声频，双脚能感觉到音乐的节奏。我能够感受到歌曲的能量，人群如痴如醉，你能感觉到的。歌曲因此变得生气勃勃。

（Para.5）

我用软件把音乐转换成电脑屏幕上的颜色线条。红色代表低音，蓝色代表鼓乐，绿色代表声乐或者旋律。这时候我凭视觉听着音乐。我喜爱做打碟师是因为那份创意，那些你用一台机器、两个转盘和一台混音器能够创造出的东西。

（Para.6）

下次你去跳舞时把耳朵捂住，你就会有点感觉到我是怎么做的。你会开始动用其他感官。你会开始意识到可以用不同的方式来听音乐。做音乐靠的不完全是听觉。

（Para.7）

现在我在各种聚会上做打碟师，从学校派对到公司的活动。我也到失聪儿童小学去跟学生谈动力和自信。我特别喜欢跟家长们交谈。我跟他们说：“我给你们忠告是让（你们的孩子）追寻他们的梦想。我耳聋，却可当打碟师，那为什么不让他们追梦呢？”

（Para.8）

清洁工菲利帕伊：一位追梦人

维丽娜·多布尼克

多年以来，加茨·菲利帕伊一直在哥伦比亚大学做拖地板、打扫厕所和倒垃圾的工作。他是遭遇战难的南斯拉夫难民，自1993年以来，他靠为这所常青藤大学打工谋生。但是，2012年5月13日这个星期天是个回报的日子：52岁的清洁工获得了古典文学学士学位，头顶方冠身着长袍，参加毕业典礼。

（Para.1）

作为哥伦比亚大学的雇员，他可以听课而无需缴纳学费。在打扫学生会大楼的休息间歇，他对美联社记者说：他最喜欢的学科是罗马哲学家、政治家塞涅卡的课程。“我喜欢塞涅卡的作品，因为这些作品中弘扬的正是我的家庭教育所推崇的精神——不追名逐利，过简单、诚实、体面的生活。”他说道。

(Para.2)

对于菲利普伊而言，这个学位来之不易。多年来他经常在布朗克斯公寓里学习到深夜。在这里，他作为一个“负责重活的清洁工”（他的职务名称），干完下午2:30到晚上11点的晚班后，才开始学习。考试前或者要交论文前，他会通宵学习，第二天上午去上课，之后再去工作。由于他的母语是阿尔巴尼亚语，所以在被录取入读通识教育学院之前，他花了几乎7年的时间才学会了英语。他以优等成绩毕业，是因为他有坚强的意志去克服十多年的学习中所遇到的一切困难，包括阅读用古拉丁语和希腊语写的文献。

（Para.3）

星期天上午，在哥伦比亚大学曼哈顿校区，哥伦比亚大学校长李·博林杰主持了通识教育学院的毕业典礼，向学生颁发毕业证书。菲利普伊和校长握完手后，满脸笑容，竖起大拇指走下讲台。

(Para.4)

“这是一位很有自尊的人，不管他是在做管理清洁的工作还是做学问，”哥伦比亚大学通识教育学院院长彼得·奥恩说道。“他非常谦卑，并怀有感恩之心，但他是一个创造自己未来的人。”

(Para.5)

对菲利普伊来说，这是一条漫长的道路。1992年，菲利普伊离开了生活在前南斯拉夫黑山共和国家庭农场的父母和兄弟姐妹逃到美国。他一直是一位认真读书的好学生。他生活在黑山并在家庭农场劳动期间，作为半工半读生在贝尔格莱德的法学院学习过。但是，由于残酷的内战，他未能取得学位，在学习的最后一年，他被迫离开祖国。

(Para.6)

初到纽约时，住在布朗克斯的叔叔为他提供了住处，当时他在餐厅做勤杂工。“我问别人，哪些学校是纽约最好的？”他说。既然哥伦比亚大学位于榜首，“我就去了那里，看看可否找到一份工作。” 菲利普伊被哥伦比亚大学录用当了清洁工。

(Para.7)

清洁工的工资是每小时22美元，他的一部分工资仍会寄给黑山的哥哥、嫂子和两个孩子。菲利普伊没有电脑，但他为家人买了一台，家人的大部分收入来自卖牛奶。菲利普伊还为了省钱，不买手机，人们只能通过座机与他联系。

(Para.8)

在接受美联社采访时，菲利普伊没有表现出一丁点对艰苦生活的后悔或怨恨。相反，他兴高采烈地描述着他与诧异的年轻同学的邂逅，他们搞不懂为什么他们的同学跟在后面打扫卫生。“他们说：‘你不会是……？’”他咧嘴笑道。

(Para.9)

他的抱负是要获得罗马和希腊古典文学硕士学位，也许甚至是博士学位。他希望有一天能成为一名教师，同时把他最喜欢的经典著作翻译成阿尔巴尼亚语。

(Para.10)

目前，他正努力寻找一份“好一点的工作”，可能的话，在哥伦比亚大学做清洁工督导或类似的工作。他对继续深造以赚取更多的钱不感兴趣。“我的财富是内在的，它在我的心中和头脑中，而不是在我的口袋里。”现在已是美国公民的菲利普伊说道。

(Para.11)

之后不久，这位精神饱满、身高5英尺4英寸的清洁工拿起扫帚和簸箕又回去工作了。

(Para.12)

中华民族伟大复兴的逐梦人

高云，黄徵徵（音译）

1967年6月17日，一朵巨大的蘑菇云在新疆沙漠上腾空而起，标志着中国第一颗氢弹研制成功。当时，于敏这一名字鲜为人知——而他正是这次氢弹爆炸试验成功的重要功臣。

（Para.1）

20世纪50年代，中国为了国家安全开始研制自己的原子弹，领军人物是著名核物理学家钱三强。在原子弹的研制如火如荼进行的同时，氢弹的研究也被提上了议事日程。1961年，钱三强邀请于敏参加氢弹理论的前期研究。当时，于敏在理论核物理方面已经取得了巨大成就，因此加入氢弹理论研究小组也就意味着他在研究方向上将做出重大转变。于敏后来说，他更喜欢理论工作，应用技术不太符合他的兴趣，但当时他明白自己应担当的责任：“中华民族不欺负他人，也不该受他人欺负。核武器是一种保障手段，这种民族情感是我的精神动力。”

(Para.2)

为了加快中国自主研发氢弹的项目，于敏孜孜不倦地工作，经过三个月的计算，完成了氢弹的设计。“我们当时用计算机进行计算，”于敏的年轻同事杜祥琬回忆道，“但于敏竟然能够发现计算机运算中的一个错误，这缘于他在理论物理学上打下的深厚基础。”

(Para.3)

正是由于于敏的才华、勤奋和领导能力，再加上其他科学家锲而不舍的精神，中国第一颗氢弹爆炸试验才得以成功。离1964年10月16日中国第一颗原子弹试验成功仅隔两年零八个月，这在当时成功完成两弹试验的国家中是间隔时间最短的，实乃一大奇迹。

(Para.4)

随后几年里，于敏继续研发第二代核武器，直到1988年退休。在经历了所有的困难和风险（包括辐射对他健康的伤害）后，他终于带领团队取得了突破，使中国在这一领域的技术迈上了新台阶。

（Para.5）

在近30年的岁月里，于敏在其他方面的个人牺牲巨大。核武器项目在20世纪60年代是高度保密的工作，所以他一直隐姓埋名，直到1988年。在那之前，连他的妻子都没想到他在参与这项工作。此外，于敏既不能公开发表他的研究论文，也不能培养自己的学生。

(Para.6)

于敏在中国国防事业中的作用举足轻重，如今得到了公开认可。1999年，他被授予“两弹一星”功勋奖章，并荣获2014年度国家最高科技奖。2019年9月，在他去世数月后，还被授予“共和国勋章”。这是中国授予为追求中华民族伟大复兴这一梦想而做出杰出贡献人士的最高荣誉。尽管各种荣誉和奖项纷至沓来，于敏婉拒“氢弹之父”这一称谓。他说：“一个人的名字，早晚是要被淡忘的。能使自己微薄的力量增进祖国的强盛，便足以自慰了。”

(Para.7)

在实现中国梦的生动实践中放飞青春梦想*

2013年5月4日

中国梦是历史的、现实的，也是未来的。中国梦凝结着无数仁人志士的不懈努力，承载着全体中华儿女的共同向往，昭示着国家富强、民族振兴、人民幸福的美好前景。

(Para.1)

* 这是习近平在同各界优秀青年代表座谈时的讲话，有删节。

中国梦是国家的、民族的，也是每一个中国人的。国家好、民族好，大家才会好。只有每个人都为美好梦想而奋斗，才能汇聚起实现中国梦的磅礴力量。

(Para.2)

中国梦是我们的，更是你们青年一代的。中华民族伟大复兴终将在广大青年的接力奋斗中变为现实。

(Para.3)

展望未来，我国青年一代必将大有可为，也必将大有作为。这是“长江后浪推前浪”的历史规律，也是“一代更比一代强”的青春责任。广大青年要勇敢肩负起时代赋予的重任，志存高远，脚踏实地，努力在实现中华民族伟大复兴的中国梦的生动实践中放飞青春梦想。

(Para.4)

人的一生只有一次青春。现在，青春是用来奋斗的；将来，青春是用来回忆的。人生之路，有坦途也有陡坡，有平川也有险滩，有直道也有弯路。青年面临的选择很多，关键是要以正确的世界观、人生观、价值观来指导自己的选择。无数人生成功的事实表明，青年时代，选择吃苦也就选择了收获，选择奉献也就选择了高尚。青年时期多经历一点摔打、挫折、考验，有利于走好一生的路。要历练宠辱不惊的心理素质，坚定百折

不挠的进取意志，保持乐观向上的精神状态，变挫折为动力，用从挫折中吸取的教训启迪人生，使人生获得升华和超越。总之，只有进行了激情奋斗的青春，只有进行了顽强拼搏的青春，只有为人民作出了奉献的青春，才会留下充实、温暖、持久、无悔的青春回忆。

T 我特别喜欢跟家长们交谈。

I started ten years ago. It's been a long journey. I mean I'm still learning a lot. Just, you know, the ten years of professionalism, but you're always learning, you know.

The love for music, it's been part of me from a very young age. You've got to turn the tables to find out how to be my own creative musician. I love what I do. And I love the art of turntables, and you know that passion drove me to where I am now.

Now I am completely deaf in my right ear, and I have 80 percent lost in my left. I had severe ear infections at the age of seven, and from that it caused damage of my right ear completely.

When I first found out, like, I didn't tell anybody. I never liked sympathy, you know. I didn't want sympathy. I just wanted to do what I got to do.

I learned how to read lips and put things together because as my hearing was getting worse and worse and worse. You know, I started putting two and two together and just naturally learned it.

I had to hear with my eyes, but I had to learn it my own way. When it comes to the visuals of technology to help me with DJing, I'll use it as a guideline to know when there's a vocal or certain sound that I'm not able to hear but you are. The red's the base, and the blue's like the highs or snares, and the green's normally either the melody or the acappella (清唱).

The moment that you know the party's starting, like, we're here — for me, I can't hear but I could tell, like you could feel that everybody just going crazy and ready, and we all basically become one, and you know, we're all connected with the music.

At the end of the day, whether you hear it or not, the experience of music is what it's all about.

Reporter: It's New York Fashion Week and DJ Robbie Wilde is busy working the exclusive, Project Runway designer reunion Party. Wilde lives in a world of rhythm and bass, he just can't hear it. Ear infections as a child left Wilde completely deaf in his right ear and with only 20 percent hearing in his left.

Woman: Did you ever feel sorry for yourself?

Wilde: Never, no. Sometimes I'd even forget it sometimes myself.

Reporter: Although hearing is the most important sense in a DJ's life, Wilde was determined to make it. He got his first shot to perform at his father's restaurant nearly a decade ago and hasn't looked back since.

Wilde: You know I still consider it as a hobby. I really do love it. Like I don't see it as a job, you know. And that's the best part, if you love something, you know, you don't consider it as a job, you know, you're happy to go to work.

Reporter: Wilde went to DJ school to learn the art of turntablism. And also relies on his computer to see the music and feels the vibration, literally. He's dubbed "That Deaf DJ" by clubgoers and promoters and it's a moniker even he uses. But Wilde says it's more than just about his deafness.

Wilde: You know, I don't want you to see me as a deaf DJ or a deaf kid trying to deejay. I want you, I want you to see me as a great DJ that happens to be deaf, you know, because, you know, I don't want sympathy, I don't want, "Oh, let's give him a gig, because, you know, his hearing is impaired."

Reporter: His skills got noticed by HP and earned him a spot in a commercial, thrusting him onto the world stage.

Wilde: It doesn't matter that I can't hear the music.

Another Woman: That he's doing it through touch without being able to hear the music is a wonderful story.

Reporter: Besides, some things are better left unheard, he says.

Wilde: You know, there's a lot of sounds out in the world you don't want to hear, I like it muffled, you know. It's, it's...you know, I like who I am. I'm proud of who I am.

Reporter: When he's not deejaying, Wilde is in the studio producing music.

Woman: What's your message for those who are trying to chase a dream, just like you?

Wilde: Just, honestly, never, never give up.

Why China Can Render Its People the Chinese Dream

Every country and nation has its own dreams, and with dreams come hope. China has used only several decades to go through the three Industrial Revolutions that took the West more than 200 years, and saw its economy leap to world No. 2, over 1.3 billion people relieved of material shortage and over 700 million lifted out of poverty.

China's miracle makers are those who dare to dream and put their thoughts to action. Chinese people are striving tirelessly to fulfill the Chinese Dream of the great revival of the Chinese nation.

The Chinese Dream is to make the country prosperous and strong, rejuvenate the nation, and see that the people are happy. A rapidly changing China is showing the world the immense charm of the Chinese path.

“When we are talking about Chinese realization of the Chinese Dream, we do not mean we are just a copycat. The Chinese Dream is actually the Chinese way of development.”

“Saying China chooses its own way ... that’s not quite enough. You have to choose the right way. China has a very successful economic model — the socialist market economy, and it’s continuing to grow very quickly. Since 1978, China’s economy has grown at about approximately the average for the whole period about nine percent a year. No economy anywhere in the world, in the whole of human history has ever grown for 41 years at nine percent a year. Secondly, perhaps even more impressive, is the number of people affected by it. When China started to grow very fast, it was 22 percent of the world’s population. No country in the world has ever seen so many people improve their economic conditions. It’s just the greatest miracle in the whole of human history. China's development was adapted to China's national conditions and it was objectively correct. The Chinese Dream, as I understand it, is China will achieve a good life for all its people, and therefore, I will have a good life as well."

The Chinese Dream is fundamentally about making life better for the Chinese people. And China is continuously advancing towards this goal. In 2018, China produced on average over U.S. 400,000 dollars worth of GDP per second; a new business was set up on average every five seconds; 10 meters of rural roads were built or renovated on average each second; 1.3 meters were added to the high-speed railways on average every ten seconds; 1.1 tons and 8.6 tons of steel and coal-production capacities were cut on average each second; 2,240 square meters of forest and 1,733 square meters of well-facilitated farmland were created on average each second; and four more people were employed in cities and four people lifted out of poverty in rural areas on average every ten seconds.

China is changing its development model, becoming greener and more innovative and efficient. A more open and vibrant China serves as a big stage for the strivers and dream chasers.

Tips for your reference

1. Decide the topic and write a topic statement.

(e.g. As a college freshman, my dream job is ...)

2. Arrange the structure and then write an outline.

2.1 This topic could include the following supporting ideas:

— Why do you choose it as your dream job?

(e.g. I want to be a singer in the future because I've been interested in singing since I was a child.)

— What difficulties lie in the way of achieving your dream?

(e.g. a great amount of practice, professional training, pressure from family ...)

— What are you planning to do to realize your dream?

(e.g. I intend to join an extracurricular class to improve my singing skills.)

2.2 Choose proper linking words to connect different ideas:

(e.g. first ... then ... later... in the end ...

but / however / on the contrary ...

because / since / as / thanks to ...)

3. Check for spelling mistakes and grammar errors (tense, singular / plural form ...)

My Dream Job

My dream is to become an astronaut (宇航员). Sounds a challenge, I know, but, as we learn from the three dream pursuers we have read about, it is wise to reach for the stars. It's just that I want to do so literally. It's my ambition. I know that this will require careful choice of courses and endless hard work, but I have the motivation and perseverance to do well in my studies. In the end, it may well be that I have to do just a small part here on Earth in our space program, but I know that that is the area I want to work in. I'm hooked on it. And who knows, one never can predict with certainty. Hopefully one day I'll make it all the way and journey into space.
