Youth Speaks! — On Freedom of Expression

Steph Tan

I am an eighteen-year-old teenager who wants to have the freedom and opportunities to speak out, to have a say in things, to express my feelings and thoughts freely.

Why is this freedom of expression so important to me? Although I may be young, I want to be heard as an individual. Whenever adults take my ideas into account and allow me to contribute in decision-makings, I feel respected and appreciated as it shows that I am capable of contributing in discussions. This naturally gives me an indescribable sense of achievement, and thus builds my confidence in the long run.

Besides that, freedom of expression is essential for the unity of my family. For me, when my parents allow me to have a say in things, and take my thoughts and feelings into consideration before making decisions, I am assured that I have a significant influence in my family, that I do play a role as a member of my family. By giving me this freedom, my parents are telling me that they love me and that my feelings and thoughts matter to them. It creates a special bond between my parents and I. In a way, this freedom improves my relationship with my parents and thus, brings the relationship to a whole new level.

Most importantly, this freedom allows me to stand up for what I believe in, and for what is right. An incident that happened to me in college recently can be a very good example to portray the importance of this freedom. _____

Try to imagine yourself in my situation but without the freedom to voice out what you believe in. You would be forced to just nod and agree on something when you actually do not. Wouldn't that be a total nightmare?

It is evident and clear that the freedom of expression is important to young people like me. We want to speak for ourselves, to be respected as individuals, and to have the opportunity to contribute in our families and even our society. To be able to state our opinions publicly is our right. Is it too much to ask for? Do not take this right away from us.

Group work: Work in groups and discuss the following questions:

-  1 What arguments or examples can you give to back up the main points in Para. 4?
-  2 How do you understand freedom of expression?

1. Pair work: Read the words of a song in the box below. While listening attentively to it twice, put the lines marked A, B, C and D in their proper places in the song. Check with your partner and see if you two agree.

This is a song by an American rock band Family of the Year. It was used in the 2014 Oscar-nominated (提名) film Boyhood, which is about coming of age (长大成人). In the film, the song comes on when the boy Mason is driving far to go to college.

- A. I don't wanna (=want to) be a part of your parade (队列)
- B. But I'm a kid like everyone else
- C. Just wanna fight with everyone else
- D. And her a night out on the weekend

Let me go

I don't wanna be your hero

I don't wanna be a big man

C. Just wanna fight with everyone else

Your masquerade (假面舞会)

A. I don't wanna be a part of your parade

Everyone deserves (应该获得) a chance to Walk with everyone else

- A. I don't wanna (=want to) be a part of your parade (队列)
- B. But I'm a kid like everyone else
- C. Just wanna fight with everyone else
- D. And her a night out on the weekend

While holding down
A job to keep my girl around
And maybe buy me some new strings (琴弦)

D. And her a night out on the weekend

And we can whisper things
Secrets from my American dreams
Baby needs some protection

B. But I'm a kid like everyone else

2. Group work: After watching the video the third time, discuss the song in groups of four.

 1 What does “a big man” mean in the song? Why doesn’t the boy want to be a big man?

Here “a big man” refers to a grown-up or an adult. The boy doesn’t want to become a grown-up because he wants to continue his life as a teenager, which means he can do what a kid likes to do.

 2 What kind of person would he like to be?

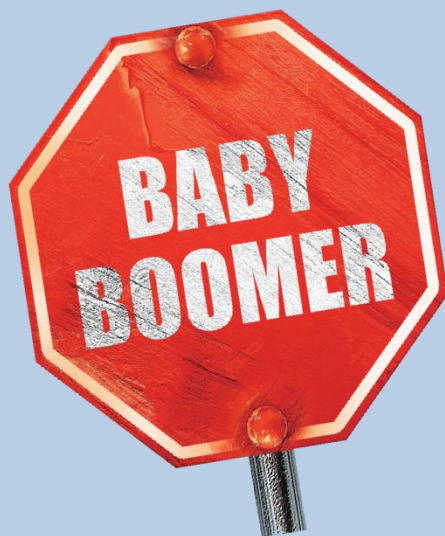

He longs to live a life of his own (“Let me go”), making his own decisions, and free from adults.

Watch the video clip and decide whether the following statements are true (T) or false (F).

- 3 The father who is interviewed believes sports is very important. (F)

Baby-boomers

People born right after World War II, between 1946 and 1964 (U.S. Census Bureau). By 1964, there were 76.4 million baby-boomers in the U.S. They made up almost 40 percent of the nation's population.

Registrar

Typically, a registrar processes registration requests, schedules classes and maintains class lists, enforces the rules for entering or leaving classes, and keeps a permanent record of grades and marks.

通常情况下，（大学）注册主任的职责包括处理学生注册申请、排课、调整班级名单、实施选课或退课规定以及永久保留学生成绩等。文中的Registrar's office与国内的教务处很相似。

Exciting, liberating and terrifying — do you think that sums up the experience of the first year at college? Sherri Beattie certainly does as she calls for parents to stand back and let their children manage their new life on their own.

🔊 All Grown Up and Still in Tow

Sherri Beattie

- 1 My heart went out to him. In fact, I felt so uncomfortable that I looked away. How humiliating to be in a university registrar's office with your father taking charge.
- 2 As I stood in line, waiting for my own question to be answered, I reflected on how times have changed.
- 3 I am as old as, if not older than, most faculty members.
- 4 Nonetheless, I do remember what it was like to be an 18-year-old undergraduate. The first-year experience is exciting, liberating and terrifying, all combined to help us grow into adulthood. That is, if our parents don't come with us.
- 5 The young man at the counter had some sort of registration problem. It is inevitable in the first year. The woman behind the counter clearly felt, as I did, embarrassed for this young man, who was accompanied by his no doubt well-intentioned, but misguided, father.

-  T 6 Dad did the talking while his son struggled to lift his eyes and look at the woman trying to help them. I thought about those small bits of self-confidence that were so painstakingly built in boyhood, and how they were being crushed at the counter. What I saw was a student who looked perfectly able to ask a few questions and get the information he needed.
-  T 7 I grew very angry. “Oh, grow up, go home,” I wanted to shout at Dad from my place in the line.
-  T 8 I was equally shocked as I sat in a seminar for 500 first-year teaching assistants and was told what to do when Mom and/or Dad shows up in your office complaining about the marks or assignments that you have given to their children. It is a very real issue in universities these days.

9 Baby-boomer parents seem to struggle with two things: saying no and letting go. The teaching assistants massed together in the theatre were advised to send unhappy parents directly to professors. I sat in disbelief, but yes, it happens.

10 Mom and Dad, your children are no longer children. Rather, they are eagerly trying to be adults. So whatever are you doing in line with them at the registrar's office?

11 Twenty years ago, when I first entered university, parents did not follow their children all the way there. My parents dropped me at the front door of St. Hilda's College at the University of Toronto and drove five hours back home.

12 I was not ready, prepared or clearly aware about what would happen over the course of the next four years, but I muddled through. From professors and teaching assistants to registrars and student-loan officers, I learned to find my way through the perils and pleasures of university life. Naturally, I made mistakes, but then I still do.

🔊 T 13 Were my parents not caring or uninterested? Not at all. What they were not was university-educated baby-boomers who believe all events must be designed and controlled and that everything I did was a direct reflection on them.

🔊 T 14 My parents came from another generation. They never set foot in a university. They were pleased, and supportive, when I decided to attend but they considered me an adult at 18.

🔊 T 15 The incident I saw in the registrar's office was not an unusual sight. I wish it were. Rather, about six people behind me in line, I discovered another parent-child grouping. This time a son was pleading with his mother to stay put while he went to the counter and dealt with the problem himself. They were still negotiating when I left.

🔊 T 16 Too many baby-boomer parents are overly concerned with success. They just don't want to let go.

- 17 When I tell my mother that I have won a scholarship and will undertake graduate research in Europe this fall she says, “That’s nice, dear.”
- 18 My mother would argue that my success is my own. I would argue that my success is a result of being allowed the freedom to make mistakes and find my own way.
- 19 To parents whose children are attending first-year university, just remember they have all grown up now. It is time for you to do the same.

1. Text Organization

Pair work: This text is mostly organized around the contrast (对照) between parents of today's college students and the author's parents. Find as much information as possible from the text and complete the table below. Compare notes with your partner.

大学资料都在公众号：三号教学楼

	Details
Parents of today's college students	Student A's father: The dad did all the talking while his son had to stand by, unable to do anything.
	Student B's mother: The son was pleading with his mother to stay put so as to let him deal with the problem himself.
	Students' parents: Parents often go to the teaching assistants' office complaining about the marks or assignments that their children have received.

Details

Author's parents

My parents dropped me at the front door of the college and drove back home.

They did not believe all events must be designed and controlled and that everything the child did was a direct reflection on them.

- They were pleased, and supportive, when I decided to attend college but they considered me an adult at 18.

- My mother would argue that my success is my own. I would argue that my success is a result of being allowed the freedom to make mistakes and find my own way.

	Author's Feelings	Author's Opinions
Parents of today's college students	shocked, embarrassed, angry, in disbelief	• It is humiliating for a college student to let his/her parents take charge in the registrar's office. • Too many baby-boomer parents are overly concerned with success. They just don't want to let go.
Author's parents	thankful	• These parents should remember their children have all grown up now. It is time for them to allow their children to go their own way.

2. Comprehension Check

Pair work: With the teacher as guide, you and your partner work on the following comprehension check exercises.

2.1 Focusing on the main ideas

Complete the following paragraph with key information from the text.

One day, at the registrar's office of a college, I noticed how parents are behaving with their college-age children nowadays. Obviously (显然) students are young adults and can handle registration by themselves, but their parents completely control the situation. In a seminar for teaching assistants, I was surprised to hear that parents often go to their office to complain about marks and assignments their children have got. What I have seen and heard has left me feeling uncomfortable. Unlike my parents allowing me to make mistakes in my life, parents of today's college students seem never to give their children a chance to take charge.

2.2 Digging into detail

Answer the following questions to better understand the text. You may want to write down some key words in the space provided before you do so.

🔑 (Para. 5) 1 Why does the author think the student's father misguided?

Because she thinks the student looked perfectly able to get the information he needed and register by himself, and the experience would actually help him grow into adulthood.

🔑 (Para. 8) 2 What does the word “issue” most probably mean, judging from the context?

It probably means “problem”.

🔑 (Para. 9) 3 According to the author, what are the two problems baby-boomer parents struggle with?

The two problems baby-boomer parents struggle with are saying no and letting go.

🔑 (Para. 17) 4 What does the author do at the university?

She is a graduate student at the university.

🔑 (Para. 18) 5 How does the author explain what leads to her success?

She thinks her success is a result of being allowed the freedom by her parents to make mistakes and find her own way.

2.3 Understanding difficult sentences

Choose the answer that correctly interprets the sentence from the text.

 1 I thought about those small bits of self-confidence that were so painstakingly built in boyhood, and how they were being crushed at the counter. (Para. 6)

☒ A) I thought about how the young man had gradually managed to build his self-confidence as a boy and how it was now being destroyed at the counter.

☐ B) I thought about how a boy could be so shy and felt so much pain as he grew up and why he was feeling even more a f r a i d
to talk at the counter.

 2 So whatever are you doing in line with them at the registrar's office?
(Para. 10)

- ☒ A) So I don't understand why you are still waiting in line with your children at the registrar's office!
- ☐ B) So I don't really care what you are doing while waiting in line with your children at the registrar's office.

 3 I learned to find my way through the perils and pleasures of university life. (Para. 12)

- ☐ A) I learned to take part in risky and enjoyable activities at university.
- ☒ B) I went through the challenges of university life and also experienced its joys.

🔑 4 Naturally, I made mistakes, but then I still do. (Para. 12)

☒ A) Of course, I made mistakes, but, well, you see, I still make ☐ mistakes now.

B) Of course, I made mistakes, but now I can do pretty well.

🔑 5 They never set foot in a university. (Para. 14)

☐ A) My parents never wanted to attend university.

☒ B) My parents never received a college education.

The author of this text tries to make and argue for her point effectively by employing several writing techniques.

The pronoun “him” appears unexpectedly in the beginning sentence. It can strike the reader as emotionally charged and suspenseful: Who does the writer refer to? Why would the writer feel that way? What was it that aroused these emotions in her?

Immediately after, there is a strong thesis statement concerning what was going through the writer’s mind and how she felt at the moment about what she saw. This thesis is presented upfront in a clear and forceful manner: It is pathetic and disgraceful that a grown-up college student is still overly dependent on their parents.

Next, the second paragraph follows to help the reader quickly identify “him” with a group and even a generation of young people. It also reveals what the writer intends to do in this essay, that is, to contrast two generations in terms of parent-child relationships.

With such an introduction, the context for the rest of the text is well set up to allow the writer to proceed smoothly with a contrast between parents of today’s college students and the writer’s parents. She chooses the block-by-block method for organizing the text, first presents and discusses parents of today’s college students, and then moves on to discuss her parents. To help the reader keep track of the contrast, she switches from one block to the other using expressions of time (e.g. twenty years ago, when I tell my mother that ...) .

Finally, a note of caution. It can be argued that the writer provides an interesting perspective on cross-generational differences and offers good advice. However, the reader may need to be wary of the risk involved in basing a conclusion on personal experiences to make a blanket statement about generations.

The emphatic (强调的) use of do

Do as auxiliary verb (助动词) can be used before verbs for emphasis (强调), especially verbs like hope, believe, think, feel, etc. Besides, it is often used together with words such as but, however, nonetheless and though/although to show contrast. In speech it needs to be stressed (重读). e.g.

- 1) I really do love it. (Integrated Skills Practicing, Unit 1)
- 2) Nonetheless, I do remember what it was like to be an 18-year-old undergraduate. (Para. 4)

Use the emphatic do with the words in brackets to complete each of the following sentences. Make changes or additions where necessary. Then read the complete sentence aloud.

- 1 I know you're shy and afraid of making mistakes, but you do need more practice to improve your spoken English. (need, more practice, improve your spoken English)
- 2 My mom wouldn't admit it, but she did have tears in her eyes when she waved me goodbye. (have tears in her eyes, she waved me goodbye)
- 3 I understand you have the right to complain about your grade. However, everyone does have to follow the right steps and show enough evidence. (have to, follow the right steps and show enough evidence)

2 A: I'm shocked to see my final grade. They say that in the U.S., students can talk to the professor and get the grade changed. Do you think I can do that?

B: If the recorded grade is wrong, you do have reason to be in disbelief and should go to complain. And if you're not satisfied with your grade, you should also remember to negotiate your grade early, for example, right after each assignment or quiz has been graded. (negotiate your grade, do, assignment, in disbelief, complain)

3 A: Professors are now judged by how many research papers they have published. Do you think they will care about teaching any more?

B: A good question. This has become a real issue. Under the current system, faculty members undertake a lot of/too much research work and focus less on teaching. Some of them just muddle through classroom teaching. (faculty, undertake, issue, muddle through)

4 A: Professors have office hours and expect students to come by. But how can I make good use of the time when I go to talk to the professor?

B: I think you should get prepared with questions before you set foot in the professor's office. If you know what you're asking, there is no doubt that the professor will be very supportive as you're obviously showing that you can take charge of your learning. (no doubt, set foot in, take charge)

For many young adults the first year at college stands out as particularly memorable, the time in which they head off down the road to independence and acquiring (学到) the skills to deal with an uncertain future. But what skills will they need? Knowledge, to be certain, but what else?

Reading 1

🔊 Learning to Make a Difference

Rob Densen

🔊 T 1 My wife and I have just dropped off our third and youngest child for his freshman year of college, and we are beginning the long trip home. Leaving your youngest child at college is an act of mixed emotions. (1) We are excited, knowing what great experiences await him over the next four years, a bit worried that he will have most of those experiences without us, and sad that the nest will go empty with their flying.

🔊 T 2 Freshman year is exciting: perhaps the most special year in a young adult's life. (2) It is a year when our children begin learning to develop an entirely new relationship with the world as they head down the road to independence.

Future Shock?

🔊 T 3 Our youngest is at school at Davidson College in North Carolina, a liberal arts college with a strong academic tradition and high performance standards, a serious commitment to service, a global perspective and a highly competitive basketball program. Indeed, all of them are strong family values for us.

🔊 T 4 I can't imagine a better place to go to school, or a better launching pad for the journey to becoming a useful, caring, honorable adult. Still, as I think about my son — and the more than two million other young people starting college this year in the U.S. — (3) I can't help but wonder what the world holds in store for him and whether the brilliant, well-rounded education he is about to receive will prove to be enough.

🔊 T 5 On the way home, I glanced over the newspapers. There was nothing heartening in the news: from the debate over Iran's nuclear intentions and what should be done about them to a new report suggesting the Gulf oil spill is not breaking down as rapidly as once thought. And that's just the front page above the fold. I know every generation faces its own challenges, but there is a magnitude and deadliness to today's problems that troubles me.

A Parent's Wish

- 🔊 T 6 Of course, the world has always had its urgent challenges. That was certainly true when my parents dropped me off at college 40 years ago this week.
- 🔊 T 7 It's hard to imagine what the world will look like another 40 years from now. Will humankind be thriving, getting by, or overpowered by hunger or the spread of disease or climate change or extremism?
- 🔊 T 8 Soon enough, the torch will pass from us to our children. So how should our children prepare for the road ahead, and what should the college experience be offering them? On this question, I find the words of Albert Einstein — the most brilliant mind of the 20th century — particularly instructive. "Imagination is more important than knowledge," Einstein wrote, “for knowledge is limited to all we now know and understand, while imagination embraces the entire world.” Hold that thought and consider it alongside these words, also written by Einstein: “The value of a man should be seen in what he gives and not in what he is able to receive.”

🔊 T 9 Book learning and lab time are, of course, highly important, but Einstein and I believe they are most helpful when they are accompanied by a sharp sense of inquiry, a good world-view, and a genuine commitment to community and to helping others. (4) Four years from now we hope our son becomes self-assured and self-aware, with a sense of opportunity and one of obligation — and with the imagination to make a difference.

🔊 T 10 Finally, there’s this thought. For the last year or so, these kids, the class of 2014, have been measured to an extraordinary degree by GPAs and test scores. Thankfully, those days are gone. Now it's their passion, honesty, ability to imagine, and the size of their heart that matters most. I think they will do fine.

Decide whether the following statements are true (T) or false (F), based on the article.

- T 1 The author and his wife drove their youngest son to Davidson College.
- F 2 They felt relaxed (放松的) when they said goodbye to their son.
- F 3 Freshman year is the most special year in a young adult's life mainly because they will acquire new knowledge.
- T 4 The author appreciates (赏识) the education philosophy of Davidson College.
- T 5 On the way home the author kept on thinking about what would happen to his son at college.

- F 6 Young people like the author's son are interested in the debate over Iran's nuclear intentions and the Gulf oil spill.
- T 7 Both Albert Einstein and the author consider imagination more important than knowledge.
- T 8 When we judge the value of a man, we should consider what he gives instead of what he is able to receive.
- T 9 Book learning and lab time will be most helpful for college students if they have a sharp sense of inquiry, a good world-view, and a real commitment to community and to helping others.
- F 10 It can be inferred (推断) from the text that the author thinks that GPA also matters most at college.

Universities Encourage New Students to Go It Alone

Sun Xiaochen

- 1 With an eye to increasing college students' independence and improving their social skills, Chinese universities are encouraging freshmen to enroll by themselves without their parents' help.
- 2 It used to be quite a scene when families accompanied their children to college enrollment in China.
- 3 Vehicles packed with luggage usually filled campuses, while parents carrying bags would follow their children everywhere to help them handle procedures and get them settled in at dormitories.

4 However, it was a different scene at Tsinghua University on Wednesday, when more than 3,000 freshmen reported to school and finished all the procedures themselves.

5 A yellow line drawn across the entrance of the school arena separated parents from their children, who entered the gym alone with their documentation. The students would spend as much as three hours dealing with the enrollment procedures, including department registration, credential collection and room distribution.

6 Senior schoolmates helped new students transfer their baggage and explore the campus.

7 The move, launched by Tsinghua University last year, is expected to improve young Chinese people's self-reliance and independent spirit at a crucial stage of life, university President Chen Jining said.

8 “An important goal of higher education is cultivating students’ independent personalities, which should be embodied in every process of campus life,” said Chen, who wrote a brief message with the admission letter that encouraged students to leave their parents behind on enrollment day.

9 “How can youngsters grow up with their parents spoiling them and taking care of everything? We expect to make a difference from the beginning.”

10 The call got a positive response from students.

11 Feng Lei, a student from Gansu province who will study hydraulic engineering, took a 25-hour train ride to Beijing with only one schoolmate.

12 “It’s my first long trip without my parents, and I am actually quite excited about it,” he said. “Coming to the university opens a new stage of my life, and I should learn to take care of myself from the start.”

- 🔊 T 13 Feng said he has already made three new friends after enrollment and it really helps to get to know each other.
- 🔊 T 14 Inspired by Tsinghua, other universities have also launched their own campaigns to encourage students to enroll alone. Experts said these independence-improving initiatives should be promoted.
- 🔊 T 15 “The lack of independence has been a major concern for kids born in the 1990s as parents arranged everything, which instead hampered their all-around development,” said Xiong Bingqi, vice-president of the 21st Century Education Research Institute.
- 🔊 T 16 “Such campaigns will help them realize that they have to live their lives on their own, and schools should provide more independence-developing programs to go with academic education.”

Skim the article above and answer the following questions.

Cultivating Core Values — Freedom

Freedom is what every human being is craving for, fighting for and sometimes, dying for. It requires a person to have a free state of mind, having every possibility to live the way one wants while not harming others. Real freedom means having a profound mind and morality, being able to explore one's potential and cultivate a noble spiritual life.

Though college students now in China have all the external assistance they need to be free like the access to sufficient sources for further study and programs that support their journey to explore, it is the internal qualities that matter the most. It takes them to be self-conscious, self-disciplined and also, self-reliant to reach freedom. Fortunately, university is the perfect place for them to develop those internal qualities. Recently, Tsinghua University has taken action to take up its responsibility.

Pair work: Work with your partner to complete the following dialogue, using the words and phrases in brackets. Make changes or additions where necessary.

A: What is the problem of parents helping their college kids enroll?

B: It implies that college students can't be fully 1) responsible for the basic part of their life even when they're off to college. Also, they will be too comfortable in their parents' cuddle, which comes with the restriction and control of their parents. And the young adults can never grow up with the 2) spoiling and constant care from their parents.
(responsible, spoil)

A: So why do you think Tsinghua University makes the rules that students should enroll on their own?

B: I believe it's because Tsinghua University realizes that independence plays a(n) 3) crucial part in a young adult's personal growth. 4) Enrolling by themselves on the very first day marks the beginning of their 5) independent life and reveals them the life without parent's help and restrictions.

(independence, enroll, crucial)

A: Yes, college students always want to establish their personalities but most of them will get lost in the process if they can't be self-conscious and independent first.

B: Exactly! Improving young Chinese people's self-reliance and independent spirit can cultivate their independent personalities. It can benefit every process of campus life and will make a 6) positive influence on their career and 7) social life later. (social, positive)

A: What a wise move! And how are the students reacting to Tsinghua's launch?

B: Quite well actually. One of the freshmen, Fenglei, takes a 25-hour train ride to Beijing with another schoolmate and finishes all the 8) registration and enrollment all by himself. He feels like there's a brand-new start for his adulthood, taking care of himself and making friends far away from home. He must be thrilled at the taste of 9) freedom. (registration, free)

A: Also, other universities have been inspired by the launch and encouraged their students to enroll alone. The trend starts and the change is actually happening!

B: Indeed. Tsinghua University is such a great example for all the higher education institutions in China. It 10) carries out a profound action and helps the youngsters and the society to know that the way to true freedom is self-reliance, self-discipline and self-consciousness. 11) Only when we have the essential internal qualities, can we be brought to all the possibilities of ourselves and 12) make choices with all the freedom in our hands. (carry out, make choice, only when)

A: Right. Throughout the history all over the world, the whole society has been fascinated by the concept of freedom. By 13) practicing the core socialist values together, the college students of our time can be able to 14) take up the responsibilities granted by this prosperous era. 15) With the aim of realizing the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation, we can all make our contributions to the construction of socialist harmonious society on the basis of being free. (practice, take up, with the aim)

College students are at the stage of their lives where they break away from the 8) protection of their family, learn how to be adults and rely on themselves. Parents tend to have over-protective and even controlling characteristics when their children have the “college talk” with them. Even with the best intentions of parents, being too careful about their children’s life could 9) hamper their ability to make decisions on their 10) own.

It is inevitable that college students will face many problems, including their ideas of what the future has in Going to college is a big step for young people. Parents of new students at New York University are helping their children move in. Watch the following six brief interviews with some parents and one student, and listen to what they have to say about their feelings. Fill in the blanks according to what you have heard.

Segment 1

“She’s a great kid. I’ve always been proud of her. You know , it’s a little scary to let her go off to college.”

Segment 2

“I don’t want to hurt your feelings, but I’m like, I’m ready. I’m ready, I mean, I’m ready for this. You know, I’ve been waiting for it to happen, so I’m ready to be independent, but I’m going to miss your food.”

Segment 3

“I am happy as can be for Louisa. She so deserves to be in New York city at NYU, right here. I couldn’t be happier for her.”

Segment 4

“Exciting moment for us, for all of our family, you know.”

Segment 5

“It’s a big dream for her, so we’re thrilled that she’s made it. We’re going to miss her like crazy, but that’s okay. It’s a great adventure. So proud, so proud.”

Segment 6

“For me, it is peace. As a parent, you have children, you wonder what’s going to take place. And now the fact that he is here now and is in one of the best schools in the nation. His future, I’m not concerned about, (be)cause the potential is so great.”

Group discussion

Form groups of 4–5 students. Share your freshman year experience with group members. The discussion may center round the following questions:

- 1) Did you enroll by yourself? Why or why not?
- 2) What impressed you most in the orientation (大学迎新学校情况介绍) week at college?
- 3) What problems did you struggle with in the first month at college?
- 4) Your parents might feel empty after they sent you off to college. Is there anything you could do about it?

5) What abilities would you like to develop at college?

Tips: While preparing for the discussion, do refer to the Text, Reading 1 and Reading 2 for useful expressions. You are encouraged to use as many expressions you have learned as possible.

Tips: How to write an email

Almost all emails are written in a less formal (正式的) style than the equivalent (相应的) letter. They are more like informal chatting, particularly among friends. It is common, for example, to start an email with the name of the person you are writing to, without starting with the word “Dear”, or by using “Hi” in its place, just as if you were meeting in the street. The following outline (提纲) will give some idea of how you might set out an email, though you have considerable freedom to do as you please so long as you communicate effectively (有效地).

When you finish, please exchange (交换) your writing with a classmate and evaluate each other's writing according to the following criteria:

Evaluation criteria:

- 1 You must write an email of no less than 120 words.
- 2 You must state the subject of your email.
- 3 You must include greetings, an introduction, a body, and a conclusion.
- 4 You must include the information about your university life your parents are concerned about.
- 5 You must use:
 - five key words and expressions from the Text,
 - two new words from the other two articles.Highlight these words and expressions clearly by underlining them or using a different color.

On completion of this unit, you are expected to:

- have a thorough understanding of the text contextually and linguistically;
- build up an active vocabulary to talk about freshman year and know how to use the key words and expressions in context properly;
- communicate with regard to freshman year experience;
- understand what American parents and their children think of the freshman year;
- reflect on your own experience of the first year at college and how your parents feel when you leave home to attend college;
- make a comparison between American college students' parents and Chinese ones;
- get familiar with the writing of an email.

1. (Answers may vary.) A few weeks ago, when I was having a philosophy lecture, my lecturer questioned whether I believed souls really exist. The professor had presented a string of new scientific experiments that helped answer this ancient spiritual question. But I don't think anything would continue to exist after a human's death. So, I answered my lecturer, saying that I do not believe in souls at all.

真正的幸福应该是可以靠自己获得的。

只好仍跟随着父母的成年孩子

谢丽·比蒂

我十分同情这位男孩。事实上，我感到非常不安，所以避开不看。想象一下一个身处大学注册处的年轻人，仍有父亲陪伴左右包办事务是多么令人蒙羞。

(Para.1)

当我排着队等待咨询的时候，我不由得感叹时代的变迁。
(Para.2)

大学资料都在公众号：大学资料都在公众号

我和大部分老师相比，如果不比他们年长的话，至少也是和他们一样的年纪了。 (Para.3)

尽管如此，我仍记得当年我还是个18岁本科生时的感受。大学第一年的经历曾是那样激动人心，无拘无束，甚至惊心动魄。各种体验交织在一起，使我们真正长大成人。当然，这建立在我们的父母放手的前提下。

(Para.4)

那位在注册台边的年轻人像是遇到注册方面的问题，这在第一年入学时是难以避免的。台子后面的女职员显然像我一样，为眼前这位仍由父亲陪同的年轻男孩感到尴尬。毫无疑问，这位父亲想要助儿子一臂之力的用心是好的，但却误入了歧途。

(Para.5)

全部对话由父亲包办，而他的儿子只能挣扎着抬起眼睛看着这位帮助他们的女职员。我想到了男孩少年时代辛苦建立起来的那点自信心，就这样在注册台前被砸得粉碎。而我看到的分明是一位完全有能力提问并且得到他所需信息的学生。(Para.6)

我感到很愤怒，想从我排队的地方向那位父亲大喊：“喂，别不识时务啦，回家吧！”

(Para.7)

大学资料都在公众号：@数学校

令我感到同样震惊的是，我参加了一个为500名一年级助教开设的研讨会，会上被告知当家长来到你的办公室抱怨你给孩子的分数低或者作业多的时候你该如何应付。这在当今大学里已成为一个非常现实的问题。（Para.8）

婴儿潮时期出生的家长都在为两件事情纠结：对孩子说“不”以及如何放手。聚集在讲堂里的助教们被告知让不高兴的家长们直接去找教授。我感到难以置信，但的确，这些都是真的。

(Para.9)

父母亲们，你们的儿女已经不再是孩子了。相反，他们正热切地努力成长为大人。所以，你们在注册办公室跟孩子一起排队干什么呢？

(Para.10)

二十年前当我第一次踏入大学校门的时候，家长们都不会全程陪同左右。我的父母只把我送到多伦多大学的圣希尔达学院正门口就与我告别，开五小时车回家了。（Para.11）

当时的我并没有完全准备好，也不清楚后面大学四年里会发生些什么。尽管如此，我仍应付了过来。从教授、助教们到注册中心及学生贷款办公室的职员们那里，我学着靠自己来适应大学生活的各种甜酸苦辣。自然，我犯过错误，然而，我现在也还不是要犯错嘛。

(Para.12)

我的父母是对我毫不关心或者无动于衷吗？绝对不是。他们只不过不是受过大学教育的婴儿潮时期出生的那一代人，在那些人看来，一切事情都得由他们来策划和操控，我所做的一切事情都得由他们来承担。

(Para.13)

我的父母属于另一代人，他们从未进过大学校门。当我决定去读大学时，他们很是欣慰，并加以支持。我18岁时他们就把我当成年人看待。

(Para.14)

我在注册办公室里看到的这件小事并非罕见。而我倒希望它不常见。可是，就在我后面排队的大约六人中，我发现了另一对孩子家长组合。这次，儿子正在恳求他的妈妈站着不要动，由他自己去注册台处理问题。在我离开的时候，他们还在协商。

(Para.15)

太多婴儿潮一代的家长们过度操心儿女们的成功，他们就是不愿放手。

(Para.16)

当我告诉母亲我已获得奖学金并将在秋天作为研究生去欧洲做研究的时候，她只说了句“非常好，亲爱的。”（Para.17）

我的母亲总是说我的成功全是靠我自己的努力得来的，而我总是说我的成功源于父母赋予了我犯错误和靠自己拼搏的自由。

(Para.18)

我想对那些孩子正在念大学一年级的家长们说：记住，孩子们已经长大成人了。而你们，也该“长大”了。（Para.19）

学会有所作为

罗布·登森

我夫人和我刚刚把我们第三个，也是最小的孩子送到大学去开始第一年的学习，现在我们正踏上长途回家路。把最小的孩子送到大学去的心情五味杂陈。我们很兴奋，因为知道在今后四年中将会有非常棒的经历等着他；我们又有些担心，因为他将在没有我们帮助的情况下独自面对这一切；同时我们又感到一阵失落，因为随着孩子们远走高飞，家也变得空落落的了。

(Para.1)

大学第一年是非常令人兴奋的。对刚成年的年轻人来说，这也许是最意义非凡的一年。这一年里，我们的孩子在迈向独立的路上，开始学着和世界建立一种全新的关系。

(Para.2)

未来冲击

我们的幼子就读于北卡罗来纳州的戴维森学院。这是一所拥有很强学术传统的高水准的文理学院。它具有严谨的服务意识和国际化视角，并拥有一个竞争力很强的篮球项目。事实上，所有这些对我们来说都是非常重要的家庭价值观念。

(Para.3)

我想不出一个更好的上大学的地方，也想不出一个更好的起跑平台可以让孩子成长为有用的、富有同情心的、具有高尚品格的人。然而，当我想到我儿子和全美今年踏入大学的两百多万的年轻人的时候，我情不自禁地想知道等待他的是个什么样的世界，他将接受的杰出的全面的教育是否足以帮助他迎接未来的挑战。

(Para.4)

在回家路上，我大略看了一眼报纸。从伊朗核武器意图以及我们该如何应对的争论，到海湾石油泄漏并没有像曾经以为的那样迅速消解的新报道，都没什么令人振奋的好消息。而这仅仅是报纸头版上半页的内容。我知道每一代都需面对他们自己的挑战，但当今这些问题影响重大，生死攸关，令我非常不安。

(Para.5)

家长的心愿

当然，这个世界历来都有很多急迫的挑战。四十年前的这一周，当我父母送我到大学的时候就肯定也是这样的。

(Para.6)

难以想象四十年以后的今天，世界会是什么样的。人类会繁荣昌盛，或凑合过得去，还是被饥饿、疾病的蔓延、气候变化或者极端主义压倒？

(Para.7)

很快，火炬就将从我们传到我们孩子们的手中。那我们的孩子该如何为未来的道路做准备呢？而大学的经历又该为他们提供些什么呢？关于这个问题，我发现20世纪最聪明的人——爱因斯坦的话特别富有启发性。他曾写道：“想象力比知识更为重要。因为知识只限于我们目前所知所晓的范围，而想象力却拥抱整个世界。”先记住这句话，再把它和下面的话一起来考虑吧，这话也是出自爱因斯坦：“一个人的价值应该体现在他能给别人什么，而并非他能收受什么。”

(Para.8)

书本知识和做实验固然是非常重要的，但爱因斯坦和我都认为，只有在拥有敏锐的探究精神、正确的世界观，并真心服务大众、帮助别人的前提下，读书和实验的益处才能得以最大发挥。从现在起的四年中，我们希望儿子变得自信、自觉，有机遇意识和责任感——并拥有改变世界的想象力。

(Para.9)

最后，我还有个想法。在过去的一年里，这些2014届毕业班的孩子们在极大程度上是被积点和考分来考量的。值得庆幸的是这些日子已经过去。现在最重要的是他们的激情、诚实、想象力和他们的宽大胸怀。我相信他们会做得很好。

(Para.10)

高校鼓励新生独立

孙晓晨

着眼于提高高校大学生的独立能力和改善他们的社交能力，中国高校正在鼓励新生不要父母陪伴独自去学校报到。

(Para.1)

过去中国父母亲陪伴孩子去大学报到，那场景好不热闹。

(Para.2)

校园里挤满了满载行李的汽车，拎着大包小包的父母总是跟在孩子们后面，帮助他们处理各种报到手续，并帮助他们在宿舍安顿好。

(Para.3)

但是，本周三，在清华大学，人们看到了一个全然不同的场景，3,000多名来学校报到的新生，都独立完成了所有报到手续。

(Para.4)

在学校场地入口处划了一条黄线，把家长和学生分开，学生们带着报到材料独自进入体育馆。他们将花上足足三个小时办完入学手续，包括去系里注册，领取证件和分配宿舍。

(Para.5)

高年级同学帮助新生搬运行李和熟悉校园。

(Para.6)

人们期望这项在去年由清华大学发起的活动能帮助中国年轻人在其人生关键阶段提高自力更生和独立自主的精神，清华大学校长陈吉宁说道。

(Para.7)

“高等教育的一个重要目的是培养学生独立的个性，这应该体现在校园生活的每一个过程中，”陈校长说。他在入学通知书上附了一个短信，鼓励学生在新生报到的当天独自来学校，不要父母陪伴。

(Para.8)

“父母溺爱，包办一切，年轻人怎么能成长呢？我们希望他们从一开始就做出改变。”

(Para.9)

这一号召得到了学生的积极响应。

(Para.10)

来自甘肃省的冯雷将要学习水利工程，他只有一位同学为伴，坐了25小时的火车来到北京。

(Para.11)

“这是我第一次没有父母陪伴的长途旅行，其实我还是非常兴奋的，”他说道。“上大学开启了我人生的新旅程，我应该从一开始就学会自己照顾自己。”

(Para.12)

冯说报到后他已经结交了三个新朋友，大家相互认识了确实很有好处。

大学资料都在公众号：三号教学

(Para.13)

在清华大学的启发下，其他高校也纷纷仿效，鼓励学生独自报到。专家们认为这些提高独立自主能力的倡议应该得到弘扬。

(Para.14)

“缺乏独立自主的能力已成为人们对90后孩子的一大忧虑，因为父母亲为他们安排好了一切，这反而阻碍了孩子们的全面发展，”二十一世纪教育研究院副院长熊丙奇说道。

(Para.15)

“这些活动将帮助学生意识到他们必须独立生活，学校在进行学历教育的同时，应该开展更多的培养独立自主能力的活动。

(Para.16)

青年要自觉践行社会主义核心价值观

2014年5月4日

同学们、老师们！

大学是一个研究学问、探索真理的地方，借此机会，我想就社会主义核心价值观问题，同各位同学和老师交流交流想法。
(Para.1)

*这是习近平在北京大学师生座谈会上的讲话，有删节。

青年的价值取向决定了未来整个社会的价值取向，青年要从现在做起、从自己做起，使社会主义核心价值观成为自己的基本遵循，并身体力行大力将其推广到全社会。

(Para.2)

广大青年树立和培育社会主义核心价值观，要在以下几点上下功夫。

(Para.3)

一是要勤学，下得苦功夫，求得真学问。为学之要贵在勤奋、贵在钻研、贵在有恒。大学阶段，有老师指点，有同学切磋，有浩瀚的书籍引路，可以心无旁骛求知问学。此时不努力，更待何时？

（Para.4）

二是要修德，加强道德修养，注重道德实践。修德，既要立意高远，又要立足平实。要立志报效祖国、服务人民，这是大德，养大德者方可成大业。同时，还得从做好小事、管好小节开始起步，学会劳动、学会勤俭，学会感恩、学会助人，学会谦让、学会宽容，学会自省、学会自律。

(Para.5)

三是要明辨，善于明辨是非，善于决断选择。面对世界的深刻复杂变化，面对信息时代各种思潮的相互激荡，面对学业、情感、职业选择等多方面的考量，一时有些疑惑、彷徨、失落，是正常的人生经历。关键是要学会思考、善于分析、正确抉择。

(Para.6)

四是要笃实，扎扎实实干事，踏踏实实做人。青年有着大好机遇，关键是要迈稳步子、夯实根基、久久为功。成功的背后，永远是艰辛努力。

(Para.7)

核心价值观的养成绝非一日之功。无论什么时候，我们都要坚守在中国大地上形成和发展起来的社会主义核心价值观，在时代大潮中建功立业，成就自己的宝贵人生。

(Para.8)

T 想象一下一个身处大学注册处的年轻人，仍有父亲陪伴左右包办事务是多么令人蒙羞。

Woman 1: She's a great kid. I've always been proud of her. You know, it's a little scary to let her go off to college.

Daughter: I don't want to hurt your feelings, but I'm like, I'm ready. I'm ready, I mean, I'm ready for this. You know, I've been waiting for it to happen, so I'm ready to be independent, but I'm going to miss your food.

Man 1: I am happy as can be for Louisa. She so deserves to be in New York city at NYU, right here. I couldn't be happier for her.

Man 2: Exciting moment for us, for all of our family, you know.

Man 3: And today, today we are now ecstatic.

Woman 2: Yes, we are very excited.

Woman 3: He is like, ok, I'm here and then he left me. He is like I'm 18, I'm grown, I'm going to college. Bye.

Woman 4: It's a big dream for her, so we're thrilled that she's made it. We're going to miss her like crazy, but that's okay. It's a great adventure. So proud, so proud. Ok, now I'm gonna start crying, so move on.

Woman 5: Here is my baby.

Man 4: Yeah, I only hope she'd shoot for the stars, you know. And if she misses, try again.

Woman 3: I can say I am thrilled and excited and elated.

Man 3: For me, it is peace. As a parent, you have children, you wonder what's going to take place. And now the fact that he is here now and is in one of the best schools in the nation. His future, I'm not concerned about, (be)cause the potential is so great.

Tsinghua University

Since 1911, Tsinghua University has been the dream school of all Chinese students. It offers most of the disciplines you could want to learn. Computer Science, Chemical Engineering, Environmental Studies, Economics, International Relations, you name it. Currently, more than 50 percent of Tsinghua students will study the world's top 20 majors. If you want a voice in international academic forums you should not miss the chance to come to Tsinghua.

Over 5,000 papers written by Tsinghua students were published in SCI journals in 2016. These young scholars are eager to deepen and expand their knowledge, just like you. For over a hundred years, Tsinghua has cultivated countless top engineers, scientists, writers, artists, and economists who have become the thought leaders in their respective fields and served as pillars in the development of China. Our alumni even include two presidents of the nation.

Now is the time to ask yourself — who do YOU want to be? Tsinghua respects and supports all your interests. It has successfully nurtured top technical directors in Silicon Valley, innovating Internet start-up CEOs, a fiction writer awarded the Hugo Award, a documentary director famous for shooting on the world's highest mountain top, leading creators of online manga and poetic composers who have moved millions of people. So, in Tsinghua, you will become who you want to be.

Tsinghua will never ever treat you as a stranger. Studying and living here, you will have access to numerous libraries with millions of books, various sports facilities, recreational activities all year round, famous cuisines from different parts of China, and of course a comfy dorm prepared by the International Student and Scholar Center. The Buddy Program provides help to each international student on adapting themselves to the new life in Tsinghua and experience real China.

Activities like orientation, student clubs and associations, and freshman proms will definitely bring you the utmost excitement of college life. You can sign up for the freshman seminar, listen to lectures presented by most well-known professors, approach any university professor you are interested in during the open office hour and chat with your chosen mentor about your future development. The greatest part of studying in Tsinghua is that you are allowed to put together a personalized study plan. So you make your own future.

Hey, it's Ryan Williams, checking back with you here at the the LeBow new student luncheon. We're going to see what some parents and students think about how their day's going so far.

Alright we're here with —

Belle Jones and Laura Jones.

Alright, and you are?

Parent of a Drexel — incoming Drexel freshman.

I'm Jen.

Jody.

And we're from Lebanon.

How are you?

Good, good. How's the moving process going?

So far so good.

Very good. Very good.

Alright, cool, cool. I see a lot of energy. Lot of coffee in for it, right?

Lots to see. Coffee for me.

It's good — remind me of my college days when I moved in, you know, my college about twenty years back. Exciting.

Words of wisdom for your daughter?

Study hard. Participate in as many activities as you can get involved in. Get involved with community service and enjoy yourself. Make great new friends.

Do the best that you can — is all we ask.

Advice is dedication, hard work, focus and you should have that drive, that fire, you know.

What's the most exciting thing about Drexel that you've learned so far?

Well, I know my daughter Brittany Jones, what she learned about Drexel is that it's a city, and she wanted a city environment and she would like some multi-culture.

Tips for your reference

1. State the subject of your email

It is important to come up with a subject of an email. The subject of an email is like the title of an essay. In this case, you are writing to your parents telling them about your university life, so you may name the email as “Hello from university”.

2. Write decent greetings

Greetings are a simple but essential part of an email. You need to decide how to greet the recipient depending on your relationship. When greeting parents or friends, you can use “Hi mom / Dear mom / Hello Alice”, but when writing to a professor or someone you met at work, you need to address them by their titles, such as “Dear Prof. Black” or “Dear Mrs. Watson”.

3. Write the introduction

Just like writing a letter, the introduction of an email is concise, but it plays several roles together, such as: asking about one's health, thanking for the previous emails; stating your reason for writing the email, etc.

4. Write the main body

For this topic, you may include the following ideas:

- How do you feel about your university life?

(e.g. I'm really enjoying my university life. / University is quite different from what I thought, but I still like it.)

- How about your studies? Do you take some interesting courses? Are your lecturers nice?

(e.g. We have been allowed to attend lectures on a range of different courses before making a final commitment on those we are going to undertake.)

- Have you made any friends in college? Is there anything interesting?

(e.g. My room-mates are great fun. As soon as I set foot in the dorm I knew that we would all get along fine.)

5. Write a complimentary close and signature

A complimentary close is used for saying goodbye, sending your love, asking people to write back, etc. For example, “Say Hi to Aunt for me” or “Can’t wait to hear from you”.

Subject: Hello from university!

Dear Mom and Dad,

Lovely to receive your email. As you can guess, I've been really busy, what with finding my way around campus and exploring different courses. We have been allowed to attend lectures on a range of different courses before making a final commitment on those we are going to undertake. No doubt all part of making us begin to take charge of our learning! But we have to choose before the end of the week. Then it will be getting down to hard work with weekly assignments and seminars, many on things completely new to me. Don't worry, I'm not complaining.
I n f a c t , I ' m s u r e I ' m g o i n g t o love it here and still in disbelief about my good fortune. And I promise to remember your good advice about everyone making mistakes and try to be not too embarrassed when I make them myself.

My room-mates are great fun. As soon as I set foot in the dorm I knew that we would all get along fine.

Anyway, I must go now, as some seniors are about to put on a performance and we are all invited . Give my love to Aunty when you see her!

Lots of love,
Anna
